ARBITRATION ON SHANTUNG NOT INTENDED PEKING FEARS

Japanese Note Indicates Matter Will Not Go Before Parley

ONLY A RETORT

Peking Officials Scent Deeplaid Scheme To Block Recovery

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, October 21.—It is obsolutely denied by the highest Japanese authority here that Japan has now, never has had in the past or is likely to have any intention to submit the Shantung dispute to arbitration—be it that of President Harding or of any other authority. Reports to this effect are attributed to irresponsible newspapermen in Tokio.

The idea of arbitration of the matter is said to be directly in contravention to Japan's position as based on the Versailles Treaty, which is that her possession of Chiaochow can be questioned or made the subject of arbitration only in the event that the Treaty is admitted ineffective.

The object of the recent memorandum to China is pictured as being only to impress this fact upon China and the world and is also intended to show that Japan's offer to mediate is a consequence of conversations between China's Foreign Minister, Dr. Yen, and Minister Obata, and that it is not a flurried inspiration occasioned by the approach of the Washington Conference.

Japan's latest communication is not expected to contribute to the solution of the Sino-Japanese question, but is rather regarded as being made as a matter of policy consequent to the accusation that China's memorandum of October 7 is discourteous, and in Chinese opinion is not calculated to increase good feeling between the nations.

NO COPIES SENT

(Dah Tung News Agency)

Tokio, Oct. 20.—It is learned from authoritative sources here that the Japanese Government, while hoping that the Chinese Government will see its way clear to conduct direct negotiations on the Shantung question, will not send copies of its second memorandum to the foreign nations.

The Japanese Government will await China's reply which, if again in the negative, will be an excuse for the Japanese to say that they have offered to return Shantung but China has refused to accept it. The matter will then be brought before the Pacific Conference.

State Department Refuses To Sanction Travel Certificates

Passport Revenue Given As Reason For Refusing Consul's Request

On June 17, Consul-General E. S. Cunningham made application to the Department of State for permission to issue certificates of citizenship for use by American citizens in returning to the United States, and for local travel to Manila, Hongkong and Japanese ports. Such permission was not granted, the following reason being given therefor:

"In reply you are informed that an American passport is the proper and recognised document to be used for travel, and that consular certificates are intended only for local use in a community where an American citizen happens to be sojourning. In this connection it should be borne in mind that the passport fee was increased from one dollar to nine dollars for the purpose of raising additional revenue. In the circumstances the Department does not consider that it should consent to the defeat of the intent of Congress by permitting registration certificates to be used instead of passports for travel to the United States. Registration certificates except under special circumstances, such as in deportation cases or in cases of sudden and imperative urgency as during the application of martial law or on the outbreak of hostilities, when the Department has given its express consent, should not be used as international travel documents.

Congressman Would Put Stop To Beauty Contests

Cong. Manuel Herrick

CONGRESSMAN Manuel Herrick, of Oklahoma, who is father of a bill which would prevent anyone from conducting a "beauty contest." To support his bill showing that aspirants for beauty honors have been made victims of mashers, he started an investigation which proved to be a boomerang. It threw a national spotlight on the letters he wrote to pretty girls in Washington, supposedly opening a contest for his "whole soul love." It is said that, following the expose of his letters, he is now being called the "Gay Lothario" of the capital. The photograph shows Congressman Herrick in aviation costume he wore during a recent flight at Langley Field.

WU'S PEACE TERMS MAKE HUPEH SAFE FROM FORAY

Holds Hunan Army Down And Erects Other Bulwarks

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Shanghai, Oct. 21.—Reuter's Agency has received from an authoritative source the following communication, giving the terms of peace between Hupeh and Hunan:

1.—Hupeh and Kiangsi adjoin the province of Hunan and in accordance with the old Treaty of Alliance should assist the latter in obtaining for the benefit of the people full provincial autonomy.

2.—The Governors of Hupeh, Hunan and Kiangsi shall cooperate in putting into execution the Peace Terms agreed upon and the old Treaty of Aliance shall remain in force.

3.—The Hunan troops, which were engaged in the recent fighting, shall be disbanded or reorganised within two months.

4.—General Chao Heng-ti shall exercise full authority as Commander-in-Chief in Hunan and shall punish all revolutionaries.

5.—The railways from Changsha to Yochow and Chuchow to Pinghsiang shall again be placed under Government control and in effecting this Hupeh and Kiangsi shall render Hunan all assistance in their power.

6.—The Hunan Army shall be reduced to the number that the Province can afford to support out of revenue, its strength shall not be increased at will, nor shall the people be robbed nor unduly taxed to pay for the same.

7.—The military are forbidden to interfere with the Civil Administration nor may they appropriate any of the civil revenue.

8.—Hunan finance shall be administered by the Commissioner for Finance under the superintendance of the Civil Governor. He shall administer the same

HERRICK BOMB REDS' EFFORT TO FREE MEN HELD IN U. S.

Brest Consulate Attacked By Mob Which Breaks Its Windows

HOOT THE LEGION

Brussels Scene Of Riot Over Italians Found Guilty Of Murder

(Special To The China Press)

Paris, October 20.—Police investigation into the attempt to slay Ambassador Herrick by means of an infernal machine now discloses that this was evidently part of the great "Red" plot, reports of which have been received from other European centers.

A letter was sent the Ambassador several days ago threatening his death by "scientific" means and this forms a strong clue, the police say, to the senders of the bomb that well nigh proved fatal to the Ambassador's valet.

Mr. Herrick attended his office today as usual, but has issued orders that if anyone sends him a present it is to be brought opened to the embassy. All unopened parcels regarding which there is any suspicion will be opened under water in the presence of the police. Gendarmes now are guarding the embassy.

THREATS IN LETTERS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 21.—A number of American representatives in Great Britain and France, including the Ambassador in London, have received threatening letters in connection with Sacco and Vanzetti, Italian "Reds" who have been convicted of the murder of a paymaster in an attempted robbery.

Italian Radicals in America are collecting a nationwide fund for the defense of the two men.

Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, Italian labor organisers, were convicted at Dedham, Mass, on July 14 of killing Frederick Parmenter and Alexander Berardelli, paymaster and payroll guard for the Slater and Morrill Shoe Company at South Braintree on April 15, 1920.

Identification was the vital issue in the trial, and because of the wide conflict in the testimony of identification witnesses, many persons believed that the jury must either acquit the defendants or fail to reach an agreement. When arrested, both men carried revolvers and they lied concerning their movements on the night of their arrest. These lies were held to show consciousness of guilt.

To explain their movements on the night of their arrest, counsel for the defense introduced testimony showing that both men were prominent in radical activities and had strongly opposed the government's war policy in 1917, that they refused to register and evaded the draft by going to Mexico, and that both men had taken an active part in various New England labor disputes.

Motions for a new trial have been filed and a bill of exceptions alleging numerous errors will be submitted on Nov. 1. Meanwhile, a defense committee has been organised in Boston and is circulating a world-wide appeal to radicals.

ATTACKS CONSULATE

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 20.—The Brest correspondent of the Matin states that following a meeting to protest against the death sentence on the two Italian revolutionaries in the United States, a thousand trade-unionists marched through the streets, chanting the Internationale and the Soviet Hymn, and smashed the windows of the American Consulate.

Here Is Where YOU Can Send Your Mite To American School

ANY Americans who have not been approached by the campaign workers and who wish to have a part in the expansion work for the American School are asked to send their subscriptions to Mr. F. J. Raven, care of the American Oriental Bank, or to the Navy Y.M.C.A.

The Committee has endeavored to reach personally every member of the American community here, but it is realised that some of the lists may have been incomplete, while, despite the strenuous efforts of the soliciting teams it is possible that some of the prospective subscribers will not have been called on before the drive period ends.

NATION ALS UNITE TO AID SCHOOL; FUND NOW 120,000

Campaign Leaders See Goal Of Tls. 150,000 Within Reach

DRIVE TO END

Last Whirlwind Effort Of Gleaners Will Be Made Today

After the American School fund had been pushed over the Tls. 120,000 mark yesterday the belief was expressed last night by workers who have been directing the campaign of the past week to raise Tls. 150,000 that the full total will be achieved by noon today. This is the last day of the campaign.

Reports late yesterday afternoon were that 807 subscriptions to the fund had been received amounting to a total of Tls. 119,647 and this sum with additional late offerings brought the total on the eve of the close of the campaign well over Tls. 120,000.

NEWSIES ON STREET

Shanghai's business district was given a distinctively American atmosphere after 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when The Evening Star was issued. This was done when a hundred and fifty American School boys took on the role of newsies and offered the paper for sale through the downtown streets with the accompaniments, shouts and shrill cries describing the news of the day. The effort of the school boys was a remarkable success as several thousand papers were sold.

At the tiffin meeting of those directing the campaign the following additional subscriptions were announced: American Club, $2,000; American Association of China, $1,000; Wah Chang Trading Corporation, Tls. 500; Shanghai Hotels Limited, Tls. 500; Tai Ching, Tls. 240; Dah Chong

Foreign Diplomats Must Pay The War Tax

FOREIGN diplomats not accredited to the United States are subject to American war taxes, just as ordinary citizens, when they embark from any port in the United States. This was exemplified in the case of Dr. E. L. Chermont, Brazilian Minister to Japan, who sailed for his post recently from Seattle. Dr. Chermont objected to payment of war tax on the steamship fares of himself and his wife. Federal authorities issued the statement that exceptions do not apply to foreign diplomats passing through the country.

Strategic Points Quickly Taken By Men Placed Beforehand Under Col. Coelho's Command—Then Cabinet Resigns to Meet Doom In Arsenal

(Reuter's Service)

Lisbon, Oct. 20.—The revolution which has been threatening for two months broke out yesterday when warships in the harbor gave the signal which was replied to by revolutionaries in Lisbon commanded by Colonel Coelho, who have occupied without resistance the strategic points of the city.

The resignation of the Granjo Cabinet has been accepted by President de Almeida. Senhor Antonio Granjo was arrested and shot in the Arsenal. A new Cabinet under Coelho has been constituted. All is quiet in Lisbon.

SLAY OLD CABINET

Madrid, Oct. 20.—It is reported from Lisbon that the ex-Ministers Granjo, Machado dos Santos, Carlos Maia and Carlos Treytas Silva have been assassinated by the revolutionaries, and Cunha and Leal wounded.

The foregoing lacks confirmation direct from Lisbon but a censored telegram received from Reuter's correspondent in Lisbon, dated yesterday, states that guns were fired in the morning and replied to from sea. Traffic has been stopped.

London, Oct. 21.—The British Foreign Office has received a confirmation of the assassination of the Portuguese ex-Premier, Senhor Antonio Granjo.

Admiral Maia Was Guest Of Shanghai Portuguese

This news of the slaying of members of the Granja Cabinet will be received by the Portuguse community of Shanghai now only with the shock that all national tragedies effect, but with a personal grief as well since Admiral Fose Carlos de Maia, minister of the Navy, was their guest only three years ago. The Admiral was at that time a Commander in the Navy and was returning to Lisbon to take his place in the Cabinet. He had been for more than a year, Governor of Mocoa and it was his record there that brought him his advancement in rank and elevation to a place in the council of the Nation.

The Revolution, which was at first described as "bloodless" was the outcome of the World War which left Portugal, who took her place early on the Allies side, in an impoverished condition. She too turned her ploughares into bayonets and her peace time industries all were mobilised for producing the sterner stuffs of war. The readjustment after the armistice was exceedingly slow and much suffering has been the result.

The people have no work, no food, no coal—nor has the government the resources to provide state aid on the scale of other nations less hard hit by the reconstruction period that hurt worse than the War.

ASSASSIN SLAYS MILITARY MAN IN FRENCHTOWN

Ex-Friend Of Rebel Han Hwei Is Shot To Death Here

Another political assassination, the latest addition to Shanghai's long list of such occurrences is being investigated by the police of the French Concession. The latest victim of political intrigue here is one Lieu Ts-yue, formerly a military commander at Su-yang, Kompo, and reported to be a close friend of the revolutionary Han Hwei, who was shot to death in his residence at 13 Yue Foh Lee off the Boulevard de Montigny on Tuesday night. The French police made no report of the shooting to the Municipal authorities and it did not become known to them until yesterday.

Seven men, including one Zee Tao, said to be a Chinese of local prominence, are reported to have been arrested in connection with the assassination. Six of them were residents at the same address which was Lieu's home.

The French police, according to reports given out, found in Lieu's rooms a warrant issued by Sun Yat-sen, appointing the victim to a military command. It is also stated that shortly before he was killed Lieu had received a letter from General Ho Feng-lin, local Defense Commissioner, urging him to sever his relationship with the rebel Han Wei.

TREATY SMASHES U.S. WAR IDEALS SAYS NEWSPAPER

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 20.—The New York Times declares that the German Peace Treaty is a disagreeable necessity and an anticlimax because it fails far below the resolves with which America entered the war.

A leading article in the New York World describes President Harding's speech at Yorktown as a "League of Nations speech." It says that President Harding has begun to see that inexorable events are taking the United States into the League and will see it more clearly by the time the Washington Conference has finished its work.

The Tribune says that President Harding struck to the heart of the peace problem when he emphasised the supreme necessity of close Anglo-American union, and adds:

"Britain seems to have permanently shaken off her old anti-American psychology and Americans, if they desire peace, must conquer the remains of any Anglophobia that still grips them."

Canton's Chance Better Than Peking's--Hodgkin

That there is much more chance for social regeneration in Canton than in Peking, that China can make a definite contribution in helping the West to interpret Christianity, and that China is beginning to develop a social conscience are some of the conclusions that have been reached by Dr. T. H. Hodgkin in his present visit to the Far East. Dr. Hodgkin, who is known in England as a brilliant student of social problems, will deliver a series of five lectures at the Lyceum Theater, beginning next Monday at 5:30 p.m.

"I have been greatly impressed by the change that has taken place since I last saw China ten years ago," Dr. Hedgkin stated yesterday to a CHINA PRESS representative, "I have noticed, especially in Canton, that the Chinese are giving definite attention to social questions with the idea of creating a better order.

"The crux of my message is that Christianity has something definite to offer in solving these problems. In order to win the attention of intelligent Chinese, it is necessary to begin by admitting that the West has failed thus far in its interpretation of Christianity and that it needs help in developing its faith into a real basis for government and society.

KEY STILL MISSING

"I believe that Christianity contains the ultimate solution of human problems, but that we have not yet found the key. It is not wise, I think, to take the attitude that our present interpretation of the Christian faith is any way final. We should make clear to the Chinese also that Christianity has come to fulfill the highest ideals of Confucianism, and that the two standards of conduct coincide to a considerable extent.

"Regarding China's contribution to the religion of the West, we must remember that the philosophy of China is largely a philosophy of social relationship, while in the whole range of Western religion, individualism is paramount. Though it is true that China has not yet learned to apply her philosophic system, the Chinese nevertheless have a better foundation than we for thinking in terms of society instead of the individual.

"An equally important contribution to solving the problems of the world is China's lack of an aggressive spirit. Despite the present unrest, it is undoubtedly true that China is preeminently a pacific country. In the course of years it will contribute something of great value in the working out of a more peaceful system for governing international affairs."

One of the greatest difficulties facing China, Dr. Hodgkin believes, is a possible growth of a capitalistic system here that will surpass in ruthlessness the worst laissez faire years of the West.

MUST AVOID WEST'S ERRORS

"It seems a great tragedy that a people whose history shows so little cleavage between capital and labor should adopt bodily all the industrial evils of Europe and America," Dr. Hodgkin said. "Unless some remedial steps are taken, the factory system here will develop far worse abuses than in the West. There is no strong trade union movement, no awakened public conscience and no centralised government capable of enforcing industrial legislation. In addition, there is over-population and consequent low wages, besides great ignorance among the workers.

"China greatly needs the help of Westerners who know the mistakes made in the American and European systems and who can show China ways of avoiding them. It needs especially an aroused public conscience and citizens of Christian character to take the lead in industry. Otherwise it can hardly avoid consequences of industrialism far worse than were ever endured in the West."

Dr. Hodgkin went to Chungking in 1905 as a missionary under the Friends' Society of England, where he served for several years. He returned home to act as secretary for his mission board, also identifying himself with the Fellowship of Reconciliation, the Federation of Christian Students, and other groups looking to a new social order.

The first lecture of the series which is on the general topic of "The Salvaging of Civilisation," will be held at 5:30 p.m. on Monday. Sir Everard Fraser is to introduce the speaker.

The subjects for the week are as follows:

Monday—"Has Christianity Failed?"

Tuesday—"Can Christianity be Applied to Commerce?"

Wednesday—"Can Christianity be Applied to Politics?"

Thursday—"Can Christianity be Applied to Race Problems?"

Friday—"Where to Begin."

CAN'T IMAGINE WHY FILIPINO IS ASKING FREEDOM —NORTHCLIFFE

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Manila, Oct. 21.—Lord Northcliffe gave a speech at the Rotary Club today. He said:

"I cannot see why the Filipinos want independence. They are already independent, and better off than Canada and Australia, which have to pay a portion towards their own defense. I take off my hat to America in the Philippines, an undertaking which is not duplicated in the world."

Lord Northcliffe is spending his spare time playing golf.

CHU SEEKING LOAN

(Dah Tung News Agency)

Peking, October 21.—Chu Chi-chien, a leader of the old Chiaotung party, is said to be continuing secret negotiations for a loan of Francs 30,000,000. The money will be used as preparatory expenses for the premiership, to which Chu will be appointed vice Chin Yun-peng who, though temporarily remaining in office, is not expected to hold the post very long. Chu's appointment has Hsu Shih-chang's approval.

Wu Tries To Safeguard Hupeh In Peace Terms

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 18.—The military situation at Ichang seems to be improving from the point of view of wu Pei-fu who, according to a Chinese telegram from Ichang, is driving the last remnants of the Szechuenese troops out of Hupeh and who is in receipt of overtures of peace from the Szechuenese leader.

It is reported that Dischuan has been taken, and that the Chihli troops are in hot pursuit of the Szechuenese and have already reached the Hupeh-Szechuen border. The report from Shensi is not so favorable, because Chen Shu-fan is advancing upon Changan and declares that he will attack in real style as soon as his troops get back from the adventure against Wu Pei-fu in Szechuen.

Dischuan fell on the afternoon of October 14, according to the Chinese telegram dated October 16. The northern troops entered the city which was defended by three thousand Szechuenese, who were driven out, leaving behind them much arms and ammunition and many personal belongings, and were hotly pursued by the soldiers of Wu Pei-fu.

LIU ASKING PEACE

General Liu Hsiang, the commander of the Szechuenese army, is apparently very earnest in his attempt to make peace with General Wu Pei-fu. He sent a personal representative from Chungking on October 12, and through the good efforts of a foreigner this representative was enabled to get into touch with the northern general, and requested him, in the name of the Szechuenese commander, to raise the siege of the cities that were being defended by the Szechuenese troops, and thus allow these men to return to their homes.

He asked also that all prisoners of war should be released. General Wu Pei-fu is said to have agreed to make peace with Liu Hsiang, but he is specifying that the Szechuenese troops be disarmed before they are set free to return to Szechuen.

In Shensi Feng Yu-hsiang is having his difficulties. The followers of the bandit leader, Kao Chien, who was condemned to death not long ago by Tuchun Yen Hsiang-wen, who committed suicide, are causing the new Tuchun's forces a lot of trouble and Chen Shu-fang, the deposed Tuchun, is taking advantage of their preoccuption to attack Feng.

Chen is reported to have taken Hsinan, and to be now advancing upon Changan. General Feng has sent a division to stop their advance, but it is reported that these will not be able to do very much, and Chen says that he will launch a general attack as soon as his troops arrive from their trip to the Yangtsze.

WU TO ANNOUNCE PLANS

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, Oct. 21.—General Wu Pei-fu has telegraphed the Government that he is en route to Paoting where he will make known the measures he will take to oppose the drive of the Canton government. It is reported that he will carry out all preparations for the defense without the co-operation of Fengtien forces.

General Wu was accorded the First Class Order of the Striped Tiger yesterday. The Government plans to depose General Yen Hsi-shan and General Tien Chun-yui, tuchuns of Shansi and Shantung.

justly. No military shall be permitted to interfere.

9.—The Commander-in-Chief of the Yangtse with his troops, who shall have their headquarters at Yochow, shall protect the peace of Hupeh and Hunan. They shall not interfere with any matters concerning the civil and judicial administration with the local Government. Such matters shall be under the sole control of Hunan.

10.—Beyond all the matters enumerated above any affairs connected with the troops of other Provinces at present stationed here shall be dealt with according to the old Agreement of Alliance between the three Provinces.

WU TELLS PLANS

Ichang, Oct. 15.—Reuter's Correspondent has received a letter from General Wu Pei-fu in reply to certain questions. General Wu emphasises that the Szechuen troops are now in full retreat and the territory of Hupeh will soon be freed from them. He said that the object of the Hupeh troops would be to secure and protect the frontier but they would not advance one step into Szechuen.

The peace terms would be simply and solely for the protection of Hupeh and to bring lasting peace to the people.

Questioned as to whether he had accepted the post of High Inspecting Commissioner of Hupeh and Hunan, General Wu said that on account of the many difficulties of the present condition of affairs he had been compelled temporarily to take the title in order to resolve the confusion between Szechuen, Hupeh and Hunan and to prevent general anarchy, but added that, when his task was accomplished, he did not intend to retain the post.

He declared that after peace had been restored he intended to return to Loyang where he would wait quietly for the true will of the people to express itself and settle the arrangement of public affairs, in the hope that North and South might soon be reunited.

Referring to the baseless reports that his troops were responsible for breaking down of the river embankment at Kingkow, General Wu stated that the embankment was broken by the rising of the river a month before he arrived, the truth of which statement could be ascertained by asking the people living in the locality.

General Wu denied that there was any truth in the reports that the High Inspecting Commissioner of Fengtien wished to bring troops to the south to take possession of the Canton-Hankow Railway and that the Inspecting Commissioner of Chihli had sent troops to Ichang. General Wu declared that the Szechuen and Hunan troops were instigated by Sun Wen to break up the unity of China.

Asked what would be the terms of peace between Hupeh and Szechuen, he said that the two Provinces would be united for protection and to prevent interference with trade and communications and all such matters. Means would be devised for advancing the money to meet the cost of the campaign from the province of Hupeh and then the account would be referred to the National Government for payment.

General Wu was noncommital on the subject of the Lushan Conference, limiting himself to stating that in a Republic the power rested with the people and hence it was for them to decide public questions without interference by military men.

China, he said, was originally an entirely united country and now, though there was to some extent some difference between the North and South, the country had not yet really been divided. But if self-determination for each province were established, and each province had its own officials and governed itself, China would be divided into more than thirty countries and not only would there be no hope of union but there would never be peace.

General Wu expressed his belief that the policy of self-determination would only make confusion and create divisions.

Southern General Said To Have Agreed With North

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, Oct. 20.—General Wu Pei-fu is reported to have requested Brigade Commander Wang Char-shian of Chekiang Province to make arrangements with General Chen Chiung-ming of the Canton government as to the settlement of Honan military questions.

Another report is to the effect that General Chen has already reached an understanding with General Wu regarding the northern drive planned and headed by Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

Chen She-fang, the deposed Tuchun of Shensi, has offered his services to Dr. Sun.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

CHEN TO OPPOSE SUN

Peking, Oct. 17.—The Tuchun of Kwangtung, General Chen Chiungming, has issued a circular telegram to the provinces expressing opposition to Dr. Sun's proposed "punitive expedition" against the North. General Chen points out that the present condition of the country and its international position render further strife highly indvisable.

SUN COMPLETES PLANS

GOES TO NANNING

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Canton, Oct. 20.—A telegram received here this morning states that Dr. Sun Yat-sen left Wuchow for Nanning yesterday.

SUN'S FORCE SPLIT

(China Press Correspondence)

Honkong, Oct. 20.—President Sun Yat Sen of the Canton government has divided his Northern expeditionary forces into two divisions, according to reports from Woochow, where he is now.

The first division is to be commanded by Hsu Ts-chung and Li Foh-ling and in conjunction with the Peoples Army of Hunan will attack Yochow. Li Lieh-chun will command the army which will invade Kiangsi province.

SZECHUEN IS UNEASY

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 17.—According to a despatch received here, news of the defeat of the Szechuenese in the Yangtze Valley has engendered a feeling of uneasiness in Szechuen, and martial law has been declared throughout the province.

URGE NEW CONSTITUTION

Peking, Oct. 17.—The members of the Third Parliament, who recently met in the Zoological Gardens, have despatched a telegram to General Wu Pei-fu expressing approval of his view that the drafting of a constitution should be undertaken as soon as possible. They consider, however, that this task should be entrusted to Parliament itself and not to a national Conference.

FRENCH SEND GUNBOATS

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 17.—Because of the scarcity of boats on the Yangtze River due to the fall of the water, the French consul at Hankow was not able to leave last week for his investigation of the use of the French flag on Chinese vessels. He is expected to leave Hankow today however, and will proceed to Ichang to get first hand information on the question and to find out the extent of this alleged action on the part of Chinese shippers.

It is also reported that two new French gunboats are now on the way to China for use on the Yangtze. They are expected at Shanghai in the very near future and will be immediately sent to the river.

SEND 150,000 TROOPS

(Dah Tung News Agency)

Peking, Oct. 21.—The Military Conference at Paotingfu has decided to despatch 150,000 soldiers to the front. Some 40,000 will be sent to Ichang and Patung to resist Szechuenese attacks on Hupeh, 40,000 to Hengchow and Yochow to resist the proposed Cantonese expedition against the North, and the remainder will be stationed at Wuchang and Hankow.

CANTON TRAINS OFFICERS

Canton, October 21.—General Li Lieh-chun is establishing a training school for military officers. The course will be a short one and the graduates will fill minor positions for the present.

CHAO STILL ON FENCE

Hankow, Octobe. 20.—Chao Heng-ti, of Hunan, is still sitting on the fence in connection with the Cantonese expedition to the North. Hearing that the Southern troops are coming North by way of Hunan, he has on one hand welcomed one of the Southern leaders and on the other has telegraphed to Wu Pei-fu asking to come and give assistance which is needed urgently.

He will await the result of a clash between the South and North at Hengchow before deciding which side he will help. Chao has also given Wu permission to send troops to Hengchow via Changsha.

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 20.—John K. Caldwell, American consul at Kobe, is in Peking on route to Chita where he will remain several months in behalf of the American government. Mr. Caldwell has had six years experience as American consul at Vladivostok.

LL. GEORGE FIXES HIS SAILING DATE TO CONFERENCE

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 20.—The Premier has definitely decided to sail on board the Aquitania for the Conference at Washington.

HOLLAND'S CHOICE

The Hague, Oct. 20.—The following are the Dutch delegates to the Washington Conference: Jonkheer van Karnebeek, Foreign Minister, M. Blokland, an official of the Foreign Office, and M. Moresco, Vice-President of the Council of the Dutch Indies.

URGE WU'S SON TO GO

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 18.—There will be no Chief Delegate of the Chinese Delegation to Washington, according to well-informed Chinese sources, it being declared that the Chinese Government does not feel that such a position is necessary, because none of the other powers invited to join in the conference have appointed any one of their delegates as the chief of the group.

The Government is still urging the Canton Government to send C. C. Wu to become the southern member of the delegation and to leave for America at once. It is showing considerable anxiety, according to Japanese sources, because of the fact that sufficient funds have not been raised to cover the expenses of the delegation to Washington. Apparently the Ministry of Finance and the Chinese banking groups came forward with a small sum, but this was but an insignificant fraction of the $1,000,000 declared to be necessary, and from the Provinces only $15,000 has come in.

It is said that the Government was urged to ask the banking group to raise a loan of one million dollars, but the Government declared its intention of raising this sum by means of domestic bonds.

RUSS CHILDREN WILL HAVE 936 FOOD CALORIES

(Kosta News Agency)

Moscow, October 14.—The Government of Denmark has assigned two and half million kronen for Russian famine relief. It intends to feed 5,000 children for half a year and will dispatch to Russia 500,000 rations of food extracts. The first Swedish famine relief expedition, which carries with it 12,000 tons of provisions, medicine, and medical books, has arrived at Petrograd, headed by Dr. Udbrig.

The crops in some of the famine provinces this year are as follows per head: Orenburg Province 1.6 pood; Aktiubinsk, 3.2 poods; Uralsk, 1.5 pood; Kustanaisk, 0.1 pood; and Buelevsk, 0.8 pood.

The People's Commissariat of Food has assigned 8,700,000 poods of flour and other provisions to be equally distributed among the famine districts between October and June, 1922. During this period, the children will receive 936 calories daily and the adults 706 calories. Each person will receive two pounds of salt during the following six months.

SOON TO FEED MILLION

It is proposed to feed 375,000 children and 125,000 adults in October in 14 affected districts. In November 750,000 children and 250,000 adults will be fed. In March, 1922, 1,500,000 children and as many adults will be fed by the State during the spring sowing season. In June the number of adults will be decreased to 900,000.

Up to the 11th instant 49,710,806 poods of flour was prepared in different parts of Soviet Russia. Besides this, Ukrainia had 24,210,845 poods of grain in stock. The movement of food supplies has greatly improved. During last week 1,035 cars of grain were dispatched from Siberia to the Volga region. Ukrainia sent during the work of October 4th to 11th, 3,538 carloads of wheat and other produce to the Volga region and other localities. Moscow is receiving 336 cars of foodstuffs daily and Petrograd 195.

Reparations Body Refers New French Treaty To Powers

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 21.—The Reparations Commission has intimated its concurrence with the general principles of the Loucheur-Rathenau agreement, whereby Germany undertakes to make payments in kind for the restoration of the devastated areas of France, but considers that it derogates from the Versailles Treaty, especially as regards Article 237, and therefore refers the derogations to the respective Governments.

Dr. Hawks Pott Gives Entertaining Discourse

Dr. F. L. Hawks Pott in a remarkable condensation of the long story of the history of China into a one hour address delivered last night under the auspices of the American University Club at the Union Club delighted the very large gathering which attended and listened with attention which was as much an evidence of the oratorical power of the speaker in clothing a seemingly dry subject with flesh and blood as of the keen interest taken by the audience in things Chinese. Mr. A. R. Hager, President of the American University Club, presided.

Dr. Pott said he felt the task of this evening to be a difficult one because he had experienced similar trouble on two previous occasions—when he had to compress the history of China into a book of outlines occupying 300 pages and when he attempted to condense the same material into two chapters in Morse's volume on the Administration of the Chinese Empire. With a history of 4,000 years and a high civilisation of 3,000 years the progress of Chinese civilisation had been arrested by her isolation from the rest of the world and the absence of influence from outside peoples. The origin of the Chinese people was wrapped up in mystery but it is believed that the Chinese were nomadic tribes, who had come to China proper from Babylonia, Assyria or India. These came Westward and settled on the banks of the Yellow River, which was the womb of Chinese civilisation. Chinese hieroglyphics showed that the Chinese were engaged in agricultural pursuits.

THE NAME'S ORIGIN

China was known as Ch'in or Cathay, although to the Chinese it was known as the Middle Kingdom. Ch'in is derived from the first empire known by that name and Cathay is the corruption of the name of a nomadic tribe of Tartars known as the Kitans. Of Chinese historians, there was Confucius whose historical narrative covered the reigns of Yao and Shun and there was Ssu Ma-ch'ien who went as far back as the time of Huang Ti. In the third century A. D. bamboo annals were discovered. But the chief difficulty of the Chinese was to strike the line between what is lengendary and what is authentic.

At any rate the Chinese found various settlements of aborigines in Southern China and there were intermarriages between the Chinese and the Tartars and the inhabitants of Burmah, Annam and what is now called Indo-China.

The history of China might be divided into six divisions, namely the Legendary Period, the Period of the Feudal System, the Period of Imperial Dynasties, the Period of First Wars with Tartars, the Period of Subsequent Wars with Tartars, and the Modern Period.

Of the outstanding figures of the legendary period are to be noted Fuhsi (B. C. 2852-2737) who invented the art of writing, Shen-nung (B. C. 2737-2697) who invented the plough, and taught agriculture and the medical use of herbs.

THE GOLDEN AGE

Then came the Three Great Emperors, the first two of whom, Yao (B. C. 2357-2255) and Shun (B. C. 2255-2205) lived in what was known as the Golden Period, when doors need not be locked and things left on the road were not picked up by passers-by. The third Emperor was the Great Yu (B. C. 2205-2197) whose name was identified with the reclaiming inundated districts caused by the overflowing of the Yellow River.

Yu was founder of the Hsia Dynasty (B. C. 2205-1766). During the Hsia Dynasty and the two successive dynasties, Shang (B. C. 1766-1122) and Chow (B. C. 1122-249), the patriarchal system prevailed in China. There were only 100 surnames, each of which represented one clan. The old religion was similar to today's and the idea of a Supreme Being was then conceived. Then came the feudal system as a result of placing various parts of the country under the rule of military chieftains in recognition of their belligerent merits.

Confucius was born at this period (B. C. 551-479). This stage of China for 2,000 years has dominated Chinese minds and hearts. He made the Chinese moral code inflexible and was made to bear the blame for Chinese conservatism which has sprung, however, from three other causes, backward educational system, lack of application of scientific principles and ancestral worship.

THE BURNER OF BOOKS

The Chou Dynasty was succeeded by the Ch'in Dynasty (B. C. 249-206) whose founder, Ch'in Shih Huang built the Great Wall and ordered the wholesale burning of classical literature.

The Han Dynasty (B. C. 206-A. D. 221) was characterised by the continued centralisation of authority in the hands of the imperial household. During the Han Dynasty Buddhism entered into China and influenced Chinese art and architecture. Men of letters held first place in society and taxes were paid in kind on the theory that all land belonged to the emperor.

Control of the country reverted to Chinese hands in the Ming Dynasty (A. D. 1368-1644) which was marked by the spirit of nationalism, the restoration of customs Chinese, such as the civil service examination. This Dynasty produced the eminent philosopher Wang Yang-ming, much honored in Japan, whose philosophy was the translation of theories into action.

Han was succeeded by the Minor Han when the country was divided into Three Kingdoms known as Wei, Wu and Shuh. Profiting by the state of internal war in China proper, the barbarians made an inroad into China and got to Wei and then the Chinese had to resist the advance of Tartars from several directions—the Hiungnoos from the North, the Turks from the West and the Khitans from the East. Inability to defeat the Chinese made the Tartars go Westward and they settled in other parts of Asia.

TANG CREATED EPOCH

The Tang Dynasty (A.D.620-907) was a creative epoch with the country truly unified. There was progress in literature and art and there were discoveries and inventions, notably gunpowder, the compass, large bridges, and printing from carved blocks. Those phases of progress were fostered by the Emperor Tai Tsung in whose reign lived the poets Tu Fu and Li Tai-po. The empire then extended to the Caspian Sea and Annam. The entry of the Nestorian mission and the Arabs who imported Mohammedanism both took place during this dynasty.

Next came the Five Dynasties (A.D. 907-960) and these were succeeded by the Sung Dynasty (A.D. 960-1280), under which an experiment was made in state socialism which found expression in the Government's selling surplus produce for the common good, making advances to farmers and organising a system of conscription on an equitable basis.

The Mongols entered China to help the last Sung emperor to oust the Kins but they had gained such power that they set up a dynasty of their own. This was the Yuan Dynasty (A.D. 1280-1368). The Mongols attempted various invasions which resulted in making China better known to the West. The Venetian traveller, Marco Polo, came to China in 1271 and stayed in the country for 13 years and the story of his travels tells of conditions at that time.

THE FOREIGNER COMES

The Tsing Dynasty (A. D. 1644-1910) placed the country under the rule of the Manchus whose assistance was invoked by the General Wu San-kwei. The two emperors of special prominence were Kang Hsi who favored literature and Kien Lung who was a great builder. Under the Tsing Dynasty foreign pressure was brought to bear on China because the use of machinery in the West necessitated the opening up of the Chinese for the outlet of surplus products. China was indifferent and did not want to trade with foreigners as equals. The Boxer trouble was aimed to stop foreign intercourse. But China had been awakened by the war with Japan and the Russo-Japanese war and the desire for better government and the thirst for modernisation had been responsible for the establishment of the Chinese Republic.

With the future of Republican China the speaker dealt in a prophetic way by quoting the words written by H. G. Wells in subject, a prophecy that pictures his "Outline of History" on the the China of tomorrow as a land of great promise with an improved script, a modernised press, and adequate universities to meet the demands of the intellectual classes.

BOUNDRIES NOT YET FIXED ON SILESIAN LINE

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 20.—In notifying Germany and Poland of the new Upper Silesian frontiers, the Conference of Ambassadors points out that the decision necessarily leaves considerable majorities on both sides of the boundary and tends to disconnect important interests. The Conference requests the immediate appointment of plenipotentiaries to negotiate a Germano-Polish convention. Meantime, it threatens in the event of either party obstructing the loyal execution of the terms to take any measures which may be necessary to ensure the complete carrying out of the decision.

NEW FRONTIER LINE

London, Oct. 20.—The official announcement by the League of Nations states that the Polo-German frontier in Upper Silesia follows the Oder from its point of entry into Upper Silesia as far as Niebetschau and then turns northeast, passes between Rossberg, which falls to Germany, and Birkenhain, which falls to Poland, and thence north-west. North of Nissau it coincides with the old German frontier until the latter joins the post-war Polo-German boundaries.

The award provides for a German-Polish agreement laying down the measures resolved by the Allies for a period of 15 years, during which the economic rights of both parties will be safe-guarded by a Mines Commission of two Poles and two Germans, with a neutral President, which will be appointed to assist and eventually to replace the Allied Plebiscite Commission.

DE VALERA SENDS NOTE TO POPE ON AIMS OF IRELAND

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 21.—Referring to the interchange of complimentary telegrams between the Pope and King George on the subject of Ireland, Mr. de Valera has telegraphed to the Pope, expressing the hope that the "ambiguities" of the King's reply will not mislead him into believing that the people of Ireland own allegiance to a British King.

He declares that the independence of Ireland was formally proclaimed by regularly elected representatives of the people and has been ratified by subsequent plebiscites.

Mr. de Valera adds that the troubles arose through the rulers of Britain seeking to impose their will on Ireland by brute force and to rob the Irish of their liberty.

He expresses his desire for peace and friendship with Britain, but concludes that no consideration will ever induce the Irish to abandon that constancy which through persecution and martyrdom has proved the reality of the people's attachment to the faith of their fathers and to national freedom.

GOODWILL PREVAILS

London, Oct. 20.—It is authoritatively stated that at present there is no need to fear a breakdown of the Irish negotiations, as the Irish delegates are impressed with the sincerity of the Government's representatives. Up to the present the utmost goodwill has prevailed.

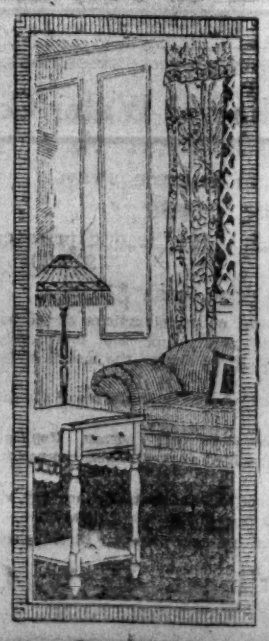
GUARANTEED SCRUBBABLE
W.H.C.
SUPER-DURABLE FLAT PAINT
FLAT WALL FINISH

A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating



The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively, yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.

Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.

Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds, and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

1 Imperial Gallon covers about 130 square yards one coat.

SIKH SUSPECTED OF KILLING OTHER HELD BY POLICE

Man Accused Of Drinking Bout Crime Caught After Search

After an all night and all day search the Municipal police late yesterday afternoon took into custody Suwan Singh, a Sikh watchman who is alleged to have slain one of his countrymen following a drinking bout in an alleyway to the rear of the China Realty company's building, Thursday evening.

The victim of the affray, one Mullan Gyi Singh, was found lying in a pool of blood by a Chinese policeman who notified Central station. Detective Sergeant Balchin, who went to investigate, found one Juna Singh, formerly a policeman, rambling around the district under the influence of liquor and Juna reported to the police that a number of Sikhs, about eight or ten in all, had gone to the Ming Tsang Lee alleyway off Kiangse Road to gamble with the watchman of the realty company, Athma Singh. They had been drinking and gambling for some time when a quarrel arose between Mullan and Suwan and the latter drew a weapon and stabbed the other in the neck.

Mullan was taken to the General Hospital and examined by Dr. Gauntlett, who reported that there was no chance for the victim to live. There was a large wound back of the ear, apparently made by a knife or a similar weapon which besides inflicting a severe laceration had fractured the skull. An old wound on the top of the head was also found to have been opened. The Sikh died at about 2:20 a.m.

Detectives throughout the Settlement searched for Suwan Singh all night and during the fore part of yesterday, getting various reports of his movements but being unable to locate him. Shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon he was found by Detective Sergeant Henry in company with another watchman at a mill on Ichang Road in the Gordon Road district. He was brought to Central station and locked up and will appear in the British court this morning.

A post mortem examination has been ordered to be made of the body of Mullan Singh.

Catholics To Hold Reception Today For Missionaries

Local Catholics will be hosts this afternoon at a reception to be given at the St. Joseph's Catholic Association rooms in honor of the Reverend Father Taggart, Maryknoll missioner on his way to Kwangtung, and six American nuns who arrived yesterday on the Monteagle. Reverend Brother Harty, an Australian who is on his way to Hanyang to join the Irish Catholic Mission there will also be a guest and Reverend Brother Antonin and Reverend Brother Faust of St. Xavier's School will attend.

The six nuns are the first American sisters to be sent to China by the American Foreign Missionary Society with headquarters at Maryknoll, Ossining, New York. They comprise the second group of sisters sent from the United States, six Sisters of Providence coming from St. Mary's of the Woods, Indiana, several months ago to establish Providence in China at Kaifeng City, Honan.

COOLIE GOES JOYRIDING

A coolie with joy riding proclivities wound up in the Mixed Court yesterday after a riotous cruise through the Western district which resulted in at least two casualties. The coolie, employed as a washer by Mr. Potter, took his master's car out of the Honigsberg garage Thursday and during his drive ran down a ricsha, injuring Mr. J. V. Scott, wrecking the ricsha and causing minor damage to the ricsha coolie. The case was remanded for a hearing by the special Traffic Court and a summons was ordered to issue for the appearance of Mr. Scott.

ALL NATIONALS AID

It is noteworthy that among the foregoing subscribers, not only Americans and American interests are represented, but many handsome offerings from British, French and Chinese also have been received.

President V. G. Lyman of the American Chamber of Commerce, Richard Vanderburgh and Roberta White were speakers at the tiffin. A striking feature of the noon meeting was supplied by Junior Campbell, six years old who, dressed as Uncle Sam, delivered a recitation in which he explained that he was graduating from the American School in 1933 and therefore a new school was essential.

After reports of the progress of the campaign had been made moving pictures of American School children were screened for the gathering by Dr. W. W. Peter. These films are being shown at both the Olympic and Victoria theaters this week.

It was announced yesterday that a benefit performance is to be given in aid of the school fund at the Olympic theater next week on a date to be announced.

To afford the final opportunity to all Americans as well as those of other nationalities to subscribe to the school fund, special coupons are being published in the newspapers today. This is being done to reach Americans whose names do not appear on existing mailing lists.

Herrick's Bomb Is Red Effort To Aid U.S. Slayers

two Italian "comrades", Zacco and Vanzetti.

Investigation in Paris revealed the fact that United States Ambassador, Mr. Herrick, had been flooded with letters, calling upon him to intercede on behalf of the condemned men. The parcel, containing the bomb, was perfumed and registered to the address of Mr. Herrick

BOMBER'S QUICK WIT

It was delivered by the first post but the valet did not open it until the Ambassador's return from the ceremony in honor of General Pershing this afternoon. The cutting of the string released a spring. The valet, who had been a bomber in the trenches, recognising that it was a bomb threw the parcel into the bathroom, where it exploded. The Ambassador who was talking in an adjacent corridor, rushed in and had the valet's injuries tended, afterwards summoning the police.

The papers state that the Communists in Paris have recently been reinforced by large numbers of Italians.

Explosives experts are of opinion that the bomb was of English manufacture.

A Communist demonstration at the American Embassy is advertised for tomorrow. The police are taking elaborate precautions.

MR. T. G. SMEATON DIES FROM FALL ON FRENCH BUND

Well-Known Local Man Victim In Tragic Accident

His many friends in Shanghai heard with a shock yesterday of the tragic death of Mr. T. G. Smeaton, prominent club and S. V. C. man and member of Messrs. Jardine, Matherson and Company's staff, following a fall sustained on the French Bund Thursday evening.

Mr. Smeaton, who was but 29 years old and was connected with the China produce department of Jardine's, was running to catch a tram car with Mr. D. W. A. Holder, also of Ewo, when he tripped over a pile of paving stones at the Rue du Consulat corner. He was immediately placed in a ricsha by Mr. Holder and was taken to his home at 462 Avenue Joffre, in French Concession. A medical examination showed him to be suffering from internal injuries and he was taken to the Victoria Nursing home, where he died of internal hemorrhage early yesterday morning.

Mr. Smeaton and Mr. Holder were proceeding home and were walking along the French Bund on the lookout for a tram car when the accident occurred. As they neared the Rue du Consulat a car was just turning the corner and Mr. Holder started to run for it. The pile of paving stones, with no warning sign posted near them, stretched across the path and Mr. Holder, who saw them, shouted a warning to his companion. Mr. Smeaton, however, did not notice the obstruction in time, tripped and fell heavily to the pavement.

Mr. Smeaton, who was a native of Dundee, Scotland, leaves a wife and two children. One of the children is three and a half and the other but eight months old. He had been in Shanghai for about six years, coming out in 1915. The family had made all arrangements to leave here on a trip to Europe in February of next year. He was a graduate of Glasgow University and was a member of the Shanghai Club, Race Club, Football and Cricket Clubs and of the Shanghai Scottish, S. V. C., in which latter organisation he was a corporal.

An inquest was begun yesterday at the British Consulate and was adjourned until next Wednesday.

A military funeral service is being arranged and will take place at Bubbling Well Cemetery Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

NINE SOCCER MATCHES SET FOR THIS AFTERNOON; MARK BEGINNING OF THE SEASON

Recs-Navy And Police-Fuhtan Should Furnish The Best Sport; Jewish And Football Clubs Are Out In Practice Games; League Teams To Be Chosen Today

Nine matches make up the football card for this week end.

The match between the Recs and the Navy perhaps will furnish the best sport. The game is called for 3 p.m. on the Recs field. The Recs will line up as follows: A. H. Remedios, L. P. Quincey, J. F. Xavier, J. Mahon, E. F. Mears (Capt.), F. C. H. Ollerdessen, C. J. Smith, E. J. Cooke, V. Evans, T. S. D. Wade, W. T. Manley. Reserve: W. H. Ferris.

The Police meet the eleven representing the Fuhtan university at the latter's grounds with the kickoff set for 3 p.m. The police will play Messrs. Cameron, goal; McDonald and Quale, backs; A. J. Knight, Munsen, Crowley, half backs; Hotchkiss, G. E. Knight, Watson, Ling, Doyle, forwards. The Police players will asemble at Louza station at 2:20 p.m., and at Bubbling Well station at 2:30 p.m.

The Shanghai Public School eleven meets the team off H. M. S. Marazion on the Police Grounds commencing at 2:30 o'clock sharp. The School announce the following players: Zimmerman, Weill, Caccia, Remedios, P. Madar, Petersen, T. Madar, Jesu, Moosa, Cumine, and Johannsen. Reserves: Mahon, Lewis, Carlson.

The Socony team play the Nanking College on the latter's grounds on Siccawei Road with the kickoff set for 2:45 p.m.

Another Nanyang team meets the Endeavorers at Nanyang at 2:45 o'clock. The Endeavorers are announced: Messrs. McHerrow, Marshall, Wittsack, Gifford, S. Emamooden, Drairseldt, Johansson, C. Sofoulis, A. Sofoulis (Capt.), Maitland, T. Emamooden.

The Jewish Recreation club will go through a practice match at Hongkew today commencing at 2:30 p.m. All members are asked to turn out in togs. The players for the league team will be selected today.

The Shanghai Football club also will go through a practice on their own grounds commencing at 3 p.m. All members are asked to turn out. Sides will be chosen on the field. The committee will be in the club house to meet any new members. The S. F. C. annual general meeting takes place on Wednesday, 5:15 p.m., at the Rowing Club.

The Navy Reserves from the submarine squadron will meet the Nanyang middle school on Nanyang field commencing at 3 p.m.

The week end football program follows:

TODAY'S MATCHES

1921 CHAMPION BASKETBALLERS OUT FOR TITLE

Undefeated "Y" Five Expects With Strengthened Team To Beat Record

The Chinese basketball team, which went through last season without defeat as far as concerns regularly scheduled matches, promises to be even stronger for the season of 1921-22.

The team is getting down to business for the new season, with practice matches set aside for Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays on the Chinese "Y" floor.

Last year's team, which consisted of Messrs. M. T. Liu, T. T. Zee, Z. M. Woo, D. S. Lee, D. Y. Lee, C. Wong and S. P. Koo will be strengthened out this fall by the additions of one or two new men. The season promises better than last.

At the annual meeting of the Chinese "Y" team, the following officers were elected:

Liu Ming-tse, President; Koo Soong-peh, Vice President; Zee Tsung-tung, Manager; Woo Zungmur, Sub-manager; Ling Hsi-dao, Chinese Secretary; Loch Siu-young, English Secretary.

Rose In Record Score Is Winner

With a record score of 103 made by W. T. Rose, and two others of 102 and 100, for a team total of 966 the Shanghai Rifle Association yesterday defeated the London and Middlesex Counties Rifle Association in the Shanghai-London Rifle match. The English team had a total of 925 points. The highest possible score is 1050.

The performance of the Shanghai riflemen was particularly good. Rose's score of 103, followed by 102 by C. Luthy and 100 by R. K. Hykes counted much for Shanghai's total, though all other scores were high, none being under 91.

Rose in establishing the new record used a British rifle. His performance showed individual shots as follows: 19 Bulls, 2 inners, no magpies and no outers. Shanghai's total of points were counted on 142 bulls, 710 points; 52 inners, 208 points, 16 magpies, 48 points.

The S. R. A. Committee are in favor of arranging competitions with Home Teams and will welcome any suggestion which may be made with that object in view. It is now proposed to issue a challange to the North London Rifle Club under the same conditions. The London Rifle Club is generally considered to be the crack Rifle Club at Bisley and numbers amongst its members many are well known shots.

Scores of the London team will be published as soon as they are received.

Following are the results:

Swims 143 Miles From Albany To N. Y.

Forging along on a steady, even, trudgeon-crawl stroke, Miss Milla Gade, twenty-two-year-old Danish woman swimming champion, arrived at the Battery, New York City, after completing a swim of 143 miles from Albany. She was in the water just sixty-three hours and thirty-five minutes, which sets a new record for the distance. The feat took Miss Gade six days. Miss Gade was accompanied by a rowboat, and after every fourteen hours in the water she was fished out and given a meal, rubbed down with alcohol and cocoanut oil and then dropped overboard again. The photograph shows Miss Gade getting out of the water on her arrival in New York.

Gibbons Wants To Meet Dempsey Has Earned Right

Record Of Twelve Straight Knockouts Proves His Punching Power, Says Jim Corbett

BY JAMES J. CORBETT

Tom Gibbons inquires:

"Why is it that most folks think I'm too light to have a chance with Jack Dempsey? I'm hitting around 182 now—and probably will bulk close to 188 through the winter.

"You only weighed 182 when you fought and whipped John L. Sullivan. Fitzsimmons weighed under 180 when he won the championship. Dempsey bulked about 187 when he took on Willard, who outweighed him about 60 pounds.

"I weigh about as much as Miske did when he fought Dempsey for the title last September. And I'm at least ten pounds heavier than Carpentier. Yet there's the general belief that because Dempsey now outweighs me about six pounds that I'm too light for him.

"Isn't that puzzling?"

It surely is.

But the reason for it seems to be that the public doesn't know that Gibbons who was only a big middleweight a year ago has been adding real muscle to his frame in the time since then—and that he now is not merely an inch or so taller than Dempsey but only a few pounds lighter.

HE DOES WANT TO FIGHT

The query of Gibbons proves one thing beyond everything else. And that is he wants to fight Dempsey.

He seems to have earned the chance—and, in the opinion of many, he sizes up as the most formidable foeman of the big slugger. The record which Gibbons compiled through the 1920-1921 season certainly establishes him as a real gladiator.

He won his last twelve fights with knockout wallop—a consecutive record which eclipses Dempsey's. And his victims weren't exactly "bums." He fought anybody who cared to try conclusions with him—and a dozen in a row were toppled unconscious to the canvas.

If all the stories told about Gibbons's prowess are only half true, he certainly must be a wonder. No man ever knocked him down—no man ever knocked him out. He never had a black eye or a bloody nose in his career. And in his last twenty fights no man has really bounced a glove off of him.

That means cleverness; it means speed; it means science. All bespeak a splendid defensive ability. The record of twelve straight knockouts proves punching power such as few men ever have known.

A left rip to the body—a punch that really made Jim Jeffries champion—is said to be Gibbons's most effective blow. If he can deliver it as Jeff used to, then it's little wonder that he has been knocking them all overboard.

HARD BLOW TO FEND OFF

For a left body hook—one that is a sort of half-breed uppercut—is the hardest blow to fend off that the prize ring knows. There's no natural defense against it.

I knew Jeff had the blow when I tackled him. And for months I devoted much of my energy toward a defense designed solely to block it. I thought I had it perfect—felt certain that Jeff never could land it against me. But he did.

And that pnuch really won for him the second time we fought.

If Gibbons can left-hook to the body like Jeffries did, and is as hard a hitter and as clever as his record and his admirers say, then he surely is Jack Dempsey's most dangerous opponent. And he ought to get a crack at the "champion."

YANKEE FOOTBALL PLAYERS WILL TAKE FIRST PRACTICE AT 3 P.M. TODAY ON POLO FIELD

Signal, Work, Forward Pass And Back Field Practice Will Be Gone Through; Big Games Scheduled For Today Between American Colleges

Candidates for the American football eleven for the fall season will take their first practice this afternoon on the Polo Club Grounds commencing at 3 p.m.

Signal work will be begun, and practices at forward passing and back formations will be gone through. No scrimmages will be had.

Manager Jack Knowlan and Captain Cy Wilhoit will be on hand to push the first get-together practice through.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the American gridiron men will again get together. The Baseball Field will be used Sunday. The same kind of drill will be gone through. No costumes are required for either Saturday's or Sunday's drill.

A meeting will probably be called early next week to elect officers for the new season.

All football players are invited to come out this afternoon, and on Sunday morning.

American football enters into full swing with the games played in the United States today. Practically every big college or university gets into action against one of its strongest opponents of the season. The games to date have been mainly practice affairs, but beginning with today's games the principal teams will meet in their red-letter matches.

The Chicago-Princeton game at Princeton, N. J. is the center of all eyes in the United States today. It is the first time that leading college football teams of the East and Middle West have met in a big game and as Princeton has always been one of the fastest teams in the East, and Chicago's eleven has been on, or near the top, of football in the West for years, one of the best games in recent years is expected.

Other big games scheduled for today are:

Army vs. Yale.
Penn State vs. Harvard.
Va. Mil'try Inst. vs. Penn.
Syracuse vs. Pittsburg.
Columbia vs. Dartmouth.
West Virginia vs. Navy.
Michigan vs. Ohio State.
Wisconsin vs. Illinois.
Nebraska vs. Notre Dame.
Oregon vs. California.
Center vs. Transylvania.
Rutgers vs. Georgia Tech.

Center, the wonder team of last year, plays Harvard next Saturday, and Wisconsin and Minnesota, time-honored football enemies in the middle west meet in their annual conflict. A number of other big games are also scheduled for next week-end.

EXPERT CREDITS MAY NEED HALF BILLION POUNDS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 21.—It is now pointed out that the £25,000,000 is not the sole contribution of the Government towards the Exports Credits Scheme, but can be regarded only as an insurance premium. Thus the estimated capital which may be released may reach a total of £500,000,000.

Immense trade is anticipated in the encouragement given to the Crown Colonies.

Mr. Lloyd George dealing with the Export Credits Scheme in the House of Commons yesterday announced that the Government had received proposals from foreign Governments for very considerable engineering orders to renew the transport facilities of those countries provided the Government was prepared to give an extension of credit for repayment.

The Government concluded that where there were large orders of that kind, which would take years to complete, it was desirable to extend credit for five or even six years, as they believed it would thus be possible to give very considerable orders, especially to the engineering trades which were suffering most from unemployment at present.

Boxing Bouts On Monday Night At S.B.C. Rooms

Boxers from the Shanghai Amateur Boxing Club and the British ship Titania will meet in a tournament at the clubs headquarters, 200 North Szechuen Road extension, on Monday night at 9 p.m.

Both aggregations have a number of first class padded mitt artists and promise some lively bouts. The boxers from the Titania were allowed to participate through the permission of Capt. C. S. Benning.

LORD BURNHAM CHOSEN

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 21.—The governing body of the International Labor Office at Geneva has unanimously agreed to elect Lord Burnham as President of the International Labor Conference.

To Hold Reception October 31 For Mrs. And Miss Borrett

A farewell reception to Mrs. and Miss Borrett upon their departure from Shanghai will be given by the B.W.A. on Monday, October 31, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. The Committee of the Country Club has very kindly consented to lend their beautiful ballroom for the occasion and it is hoped that as many members as possible will avail themselves of this opportunity to mark their appreciation of the great services that have been rendered by both Mrs. and Miss Borrett in connection with the headquarters of the Association.

From the very inception of the movement to band British women in Shanghai together in the interests of public service, Mrs. Borrett has taken a leading part, her sound advice and experience proving of the greatest value both on Committees and in making arrangements immediately after the inauguration of the association had taken place for that much needed central office and pied-a-terre in the Settlement. Mrs. Borrett was indefatigable in her efforts to "put the matter through," and few associations or societies have established themselves with greater assurance or rapidity than the B.W.A.

When the old Chartered Bank threw open its hospitable doors to the infant association Mrs. Borret came down—backed, it is whispered, by certain stalwarts whose many-sided usefulness is a household word among all nations—and in an incredibly short time the bare rooms and gaunt walls were transformed, albeit only temporarily, into exactly what was wanted by a very great number of women in all classes of the community, that is, a large comfortable and cheery room where they could rest and have tea and look at the papers. A lending library was soon in demand by the members who dropped in and owing to Miss Borrett's interest and energy in the matter the nucleus of what has grown to be a very useful little library was soon installed, while journals and magazines in abundance were provided for the tea room.

In losing two such valuable and practical members of the Association there is little solace but the B.W.A. is certainly greatly to be congratulated that this important movement was inaugurated at such time as they were stationed in this port.

TRAFALGAR DAY TO BE OBSERVED HERE TOMORROW

British residents of Shanghai will observe Trafalgar Day, which properly falls on October 21, with a special service which will be held at the Cathedral tomorrow when British naval contingents from vessels in port will take a prominent part.

According to arrangements the men from the British warcraft in port will march to the Cathedral in a body from the Bund headed by the Municipal Band. Preceded by special prayers the usual Sunday service will be held. The British National Anthem will be sung in full. The hymns have been selected by men of the fleet, while the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. J. W. B. Statt, Chaplain of H.M.S. Titania. The Titania's Ensign with a color guard will march in the parade of the naval men to the Cathedral.

A special offering will be taken for the Trafalgar Orphanage Fund.

Disbanded Soldiers Will Be Sent Home

By virtue of orders that have been issued by Gen. Ho Fung-ling, Defense Commissioner of Shanghai about 500 disbanded soldiers who came to Shanghai from Fokien and who have scattered about the city seeking employment are to be rounded up and provided with transportation back to their native provinces. The measure is being taken as it is feared the former soldiers may be driven to criminal activities by want of food and clothing.

J. Speers To Speak At Community Church

Mr. James M. Speers, prominent business man of New York, will speak at the five o'clock service of the Community Church in the Masonic Hall Sunday afternoon. Mr. Speers is prominently connected with the missionary work of the Presbyterian Church, is one of the vice presidents of the National Y. M. C. A., was president of the Interchurch World movement and is an ardent supporter of other educational and religious enterprises. The address will appeal especially to the business men of Shanghai.

B.W.A. Board Plans For Christmas Bazaar

The Social Service Board, which consists of fourteen members of the British Women's Association, is making extensive preparations for the Christmas fair and bazaar to be held at the association headquarters November 4.

The affair, for which the members have been making preparations since June, is being given to raise funds to carry on the work of the Board. This organisation was formed in April for the purpose of service in the International Settlement.

According to Mrs. C. F. Green, chairman, a Social Service League is being formed and it is hoped that all members of the B. W. A. will join. There is no subscription to be paid only a willingness to be called upon should their services be required for any branch of social service work in Shanghai.

The Social Service League is entirely separate from and independent of the B. W. A. in regard to finance and under no circumstances can the Executive Committee be called upon for support other than moral. All British women are urged to become members of the League and to do all possible to make the Christmas bazaar a success.

ART SECTION

The names of 20 members of the British Women's Association having been received by the Secretary as being desirous of forming an Art Section an inaugural meeting will be held at Headquarters (9 Kiukiang Road) on Thursday, November 3, at 5 p.m. when the business of forming a Committee and electing officers will take place.

All members interested are asked to send in their names to the Secretary at once as well as to make a point of attending the meeting.

Any suggestions that are received in connexion with arrangements, etc. for this Section should be forwarded well before the date of the meeting so that an Agenda may be prepared.

The question as to whether art workers and photographers should combine in this section will probably be raised and the views of intending members will be welcomed.

Adrienne Lachamp

Adrienne Lachamp made her Shanghai debut last night to demonstrate her ability as a dancer; with true feminine indirection, she proved instead that she is a remarkably clever actress. This does not mean that her dancing was a disappointment; it implies rather that her talents in mimicry, character study, and graceful posture made a considerably greater impression on the minds of the audience than the dances themselves. At no time did Miss Lachamp give herself up with abandon to the sheer joy of movement; her work was always subtle, restrained, and more concerned with the portrayal of incident and character than with delight in bodily motion.

Though Miss Lachamp evidently prefers the sombre numbers in her repertoire, her real forte lies in the lighter interpretations. Chaminade's Bal Masque, in which she acts out a delightful little pantomime of a prince's adventures at a ball was far more enthusiastically received than the tragic "Asa's Death" from Grieg. Coming as it did immediately on the heels of a joyous number, the trembling of a soul in the fear of the unknown struck some of the audience as humorous. The partial failure of its effect was probably due to poor program arrangement, rather than to any inadequacy on the part of Miss Lachamp, but the fact remains that the young artiste is not at her best in the gloomier interpretations.

In Greig's 'Papillon' she portrayed the joyous freedom of a butterfly, and the final crushing of its beauty by a thoughtless hand. It was in this number that Miss Lachamp came nearest to losing herself in complete abandonment to rhythm.

The two last numbers, Grossman's "Csardas", and Gossec's "Gavotte Grotesque," won most appreciation from the audience. In the tale of a gypsy maid fascinated by a jewel, arrested for its theft, and finally set at liberty by officers whom she has charmed by her dance, Miss La Champ's genius for pantomine shone at its best. The "Gavotte Grotesque" was an amusing character study of a vain woman eavesdropping at a ball and overhearing remarks that jarred her self-esteem. Miss Lachamp repeated this closing number in response to demands from the audience.

No small amount of credit for the success of the performance is due to the Municipal Orchestra and the assistance of M. Paci.

Miss Lachamp is to give a second performance at the Lyceum this evening.

Japan Now Turns On Partisans Who Blow Up A Train

(Reuter's Service)

Vladivostok, October 21.—A detachment of twenty partisans yesterday blew up a Japanese armored train near Ippolitovka. There were no casualties. The Japanese military announce that they intend to take strong measures.

The village of Chernisovka was occupied on October 17 by three hundred partisans with two machine-guns.

M. Kojovnikov has proceeded to Moscow to report on the Dairen Conference and the situation in the Far East.

Germans Know No Canton "Trouble"

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 18.—In regard to the reported refusal of the Canton government to allow the German consul to take over German interests in Canton from the Dutch consul, the German legation here reports that the consul is now administering German affairs and that no word has been received from him in regard to the alleged action on the part of the Canton officials. There are no official reports from the south which would indicate that there is anything out of the ordinary in the situation at Canton.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

FEELING RUNNING HIGH ON MACAO IN BORDER TOWNS

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 18.—Public feeling at Canton with regard to the Macao incident is running high, according to information received here from the South today, and Sun Yat-sen's government is maintaining its strong stand with regard to the destruction of the Macao fortifications and the suppression of gambling and opium in the Portuguese colony.

Natives of Hsiangshan District, which borders on Macao, are especially loud in their denunciation of the Portuguese and their claims, and there are indications that both Chinese and Portuguese along the border are carrying arms and are ready to fight on the slightest provocation.

Mr. Tang Shao-yi, who is a native of Hsiangshan, has, it is stated on good authority, written a letter to the Canton Government requesting that a firm stand be taken and maintained in regard to the Macao question. According to Mr. Tang the Portuguese have time and again invaded Chinese territory and this is not the first time that they have created trouble for China. Hence, says Mr. Tang, Canton must be firm now or bear the consequences of continued Portuguese infringement of Canton's sovereignty later.

Canton's claims regarding Portuguese aggression and military preparations are categorically denied at the Portuguese Legation in Peking and also by the Governor of Macao, both of whom hope for a friendly settlement of the present incident through the usual diplomatic channels.

It is, furthermore, regarded likely that the Macao boundary dispute will come under discussion at the Washington Conference provided that the Pacific Agenda covers questions of this kind.

Japan Insists That China Asked For Negotiations

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 21.—The following summary is of an unofficial translation of Japan's counter reply to the Chinese Government on Shantung:

Upon receipt of the memorandum from the Chinese Government on the 5th instant regarding the Shantung question, the Imperial Government of Japan took it into their full consideration. It will be remembered that the Japanese Government have spared no efforts to secure a prompt solution of the Shantung question, and that when the Peace Treaty with Germany took effect in January of last year, the Imperial Government of Japan lost no time in urging the Chinese Government to open negotiations without delay.

But as the Chinese Government, after the lapse of several months sent a reply to the Japanese Government announcing that the time was inopportune for the opening of negotiations direct with the Imperial Government of Japan, on the plea of the opposition of public opinion in China, as well as the fact that the Sino-German Peace Treaty was not yet signed, the Japanese Government, while urging grave reflection on the part of the Chinese Government and putting forward reasons in support of the proposal for the commencement of direct negotiations, declared in effect that, whenever the Chinese Government thought it convenient to open negotiations in the future, the Imperial Government of Japan would readily take the matter up.

Since then, for more than a year, the Japanese Government has patiently and earnestly looked forward to the advent of a time when the Chinese Government and people would come to a cool and just self-awakening.

CHINA ASKED PROPOSALS

In the meantime, the attitude of the Chinese Government has been altered, suggesting to the Imperial Government of Japan that it desired to pave the way for negotiations concerning this question. In particular before Mr. Obata returned home on leave in May of the present year, Dr. W. W. Yen expressed his earnest desire to receive from the Japanese Government such concrete proposals, as would be regarded by the Powers as fair and reasonable.

Furthermore, inasmuch as the Chinese Government authorities subsequently made a suggestion to the Japanese Government as to their proposition for the solution of this question and have since then frequently unofficially intimated their intention to open direct negotiations with the Imperial Government of Japan, the latter, having a great desire for a prompt and amicable solution, at once took into their consideration China's proposition for settlement and decided upon the fair and essential conditions for opening direct negotiations, which were presented on September 7 to the Chinese Government.

In spite of this and quite contrary to the expectations of the Imperial Government of Japan, the Chinese Government have made clear their intention of not opening direct negotiations with Japan on the ground that the conditions in question submitted by the Japanese Government were not indicative of Japan's sincere desire for a solution of the question, a fact which the Japanese Government finds surprising.

COURTESIES DISREGARDED

Moreover, the fact that at the outset of their reply the Chinese Government have employed such wording as accusing Japan's proclamation of being "hollow" unmistakably shows that they ignore and disregard international courtesies, a matter which the Imperial Government of Japan feels is deplorable and at the same time cannot but greatly regret for the sake of China and her people.

Besides these, the statements by the Chinese Government with regard to each item of the conditions suggested by the Japanese Government are lacking in clearness of meaning and not a few which, the Imperial Government of Japan feels, call for grave reflection on the part of China.

For instance, the item in which the Chinese Government declares that the leasehold of the Bay of Kiaochow has disappeared as a result of China declaring war upon Germany, and that consequently, China, as a matter of course, should take over the leasehold unconditionally, is not only untenable in the light of the theory and usage of international law, as well as of the treaties between Japan and China, but threatens to destroy the efficacy of the Versailles Treaty.

GERMANY QUIT CLAIMS

In view of the fact that in the note of May 20 of the present year by the German delegate to the Chinese Minister for Foreign Affairs, Germany irrevocably stated that she abandoned all the German rights in Shantung under the Sino-German Treaty, declaring that she has lost her power to restore them to China directly, it must be taken for granted that the Chinese Government must have knowledge of the fact.

China's declaration of war upon Germany was made on the advice of the Allied Powers in August, 1917, in return for no small advantages, just over two years after Japan entered into an agreement with China, regarding the Bay of Kiaochaow and other matters, recognising the rights and interests that were ceded to Japan by Germany. At that time China only disposed of those Germans and Austrians who resided in China and sent her laborers to France. That China should assert that the leasehold of Kiaochaow has disappeared of its own accord as a result of her mere declaration of war against Germany, ignoring the Treaty already in existence as well as the evidences of the past, cannot but be considered as a mistake as to the fundamental principle underlying negotiations over the Shantung question.

SEEK TO CO-OPERATE

Further, with regard to the assertion relating to the Shantung Railway: while the Imperial Government appreciates China's desire completely to regain control over the whole length of the Railway in question and to receive half of the value of the Railway, leaving the other half as it is for the present, the Imperial Government, no matter what form is adopted has no desire whatever to control the Railway single-handed, but at the same time cannot agree to the suggestion that the sole management of the Railway should be left in the hands of China, especially in view of the present condition of other railways under her management. In short, Japan desires the achievement of good management of the Railway in name and fact in co-operation with China.

Originally, the Shantung Railway, while under the control of Germany, was managed by Germany alone, but Japan, despite the fact that she has acquired it from the hands of Germany at the expense of a large number of lives and of vast wealth, has proposed to place it under joint Sino-Japanese management. Such proposal was agreed upon between Japan and China subsequent to China's declaration of war against Germany, namely, in September of 1917, and yet China now condemns it as an encroachment upon her sovereign rights, an argument which the Imperial Government finds it very difficult to understand.

TO CEDE PROPERTY

Moreover, the value of the Shantung Railway and the mines having been decided by the Reparation Commission and been placed on the credit side in favor of Germany with the object of offsetting the compensation to be paid by her, that China should claim half amount of the value of the Railway unconditionally is unreasonable.

As for the assertion on the part of the Imperial Government regarding German Government property, Japan intends to cede this to China in principle and even other things appurtenant thereto she does not intend to hold for herself.

The fact that when Japan thus wishes to open negotiations with China with the sole view of disposing of these things with justice and fairness to the intests of the other foreign countries, China in trying to possess everything, plainly indicates lack of appreciation of the real state of affairs.

That China should argue that the conditions set forth in the offer made by the Imperial Government are all without exception inconsistent with the fundamental principles of the Treaties between China and Foreign Powers is a thing which Japan cannot comprehend.

But should the Chinese Government come to understand Japan's offer after further deliberation, and intimates its intention again to open negotiations direct with Japan, she hereby declares that she would gladly comply with such a proposal immediately.

HARBOR EXPERTS BACK FROM TRIP ALONG THE COAST

International Experts Inspect Hangchow Bay Area; Go Up-River Monday

The members of the International Committee of Consulting Engineers who are considering the Shanghai harbor development problem returned yesterday morning following a trip of inspection to Hangchow Bay.

The Committee, aboard the steamer Ning Hsin, inspected the general approaches to Shanghai and went over the Hangchow Bay area very carefully, taking samples of the bottom in various places and studying the entire coastal district.

The Committee goes into session here again today and on Monday will take houseboats for a trip to the headwaters of the Whangpoo, where they will inspect the lake and inland waterways system and will also make a study of the cross-over to Hangchow Bay. It is expected that the trip will occupy about three days, after which the engineering experts will return to Shanghai for about a fortnight's period of study in the committee rooms. Later they will make other expeditions for the consideration of local conditions.

Tsingtau Quarantine Against Shanghai To Be Lifted Tomorrow

The Japanese Consulate-General has received an official telegram to the effect that quarantine, which is in force in Tsingtau against Shanghai, will be raised on October 23.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

Asia Banking Corporation
October 21, 1921.

Spot bar silver was up 1d. and forward 7/8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 71½ and the London-New York cross rate to 395½.

The official Sterling rate today was raised to 4/-, the Gold Dollar rate to 79¼, the Yen rate dropped to 61¼, and the Franc rate raised to 1100.

Notwithstanding the advance in London silver, the market throughout the morning was on the easy side, speculators being heavy buyers and banks disinclined to sell.

The best rate obtainable for Sterling for October delivery was 4/- and for December 3/10½, although some business was done at 3/10¾.

There were no Gold Dollar sellers at better than 79 for October delivery and 76¾ for December.

At the tiffin interval the market closed easy with buyers rather than sellers at these quotations.

China bought silver again in London yesterday and the market both there and in New York is reported as being steady, notwithstanding the weakness in our local market.

The Week's Market Report

In their weekly report of the Shanghai Piece-Goods Trade, Messrs. Noel, Murray and Company write as follow:

Cotton.—The price of American cotton has again declined and Spot in Liverpool on the 17th was down to 12.79d.; forward rates are below the 1/- level, January being 11.72d. and March 11.43d. Bengals are down to 9.15d. and Egyptians to 26.50d. In Bombay also prices have broken to Rs. 400 F. G. Bengals, Rs. 482 for Fine Oomras and Rs. 535 for F. G. Broach. In New York yesterday prices were not quite at the bottom, but were 105 points below those of a week ago. Spot 18.75 cents, December 18.37, March 17.89 and May 17.50 cents.

Home Markets.—Prices in Lancashire are sagging, and the low counts of Yarn are down 1d. a pound and the higher counts 2d. Hornby's former price for 8¼ lb. Shirtings was 20/-, but it has now been reduced to 19/6 while Calverts' quotation is maintained at 25/- for his 10 lb. quality. In some cases as much as a 2/- reduction has been offered and indications are that orders are so badly wanted that makers might be easy to deal with; certainly those who were fortunate in buying cheap cotton have been most liberal in giving their customers more or less full advantage of it in order to keep their machinery going through the winter months. Operators here, however, are going very cautiously and there is no doubt that in many instances, the incubus of a stock of high costing cloth hangs over them like a heavy mantle. A sprinkling of new purchases at the cheaper prices has helped a few people to average down the cost of their holdings, but it is a slow process and needs courage with heavy storage charges and high rates of interest demanded. The present native interest charge is 7 mace per Tls. 1,000 per day, 25% per annum. Between this and America, there is too wide a margin in prices to make operations profitable, but the turn in the position of cotton may shortly make business possible, if silver would only keep steady. It is noticable that the clearances of American makes have been good during the past few weeks.

Local Market.—After a fairly active period, the market has fallen into the doldrums once more; on this occasion it may be fairly safe to attribute the cause to tight money which means high interest and a difficulty in borrowing from the banks. Silver disappears directly it arrives here, but people say it would flow back from the country were the rate of exchange to decline; it would no doubt see saw with gold once more, but that would not help the position so far as "rags" are concerned. The military situation in the interior has been quieter and the last news is that 9 vessels have proceeded in safety to Chungking and that Szechuen is in the market once more for yarn, but the sort she wants is not obtainable. Clearances have been on quite a liberal scale of late and this applies also to local manufacturers. There is a good demand for English 2 fold 42's yarn by the newly established hosiery industry but makers will need to be careful of the quality they deliver.

Financial.—Again a slight reduction in the stock of silver is recorded, Sycee and Bars are down to Tls. 20,453,000 but Dollars are up two lakhs to $23,900,000. The native banks hold Tls. 6,220,000 and $11,950,000.

Yarn.—A few bales of Indian sorts have been sold this week, 300 of which are for Szechuen and the balance for River ports.

Auctions.—34,471 pieces were sold this week and the results obtained were very irregular, no doubt there would be an explanation forthcoming for each individual chop but taking the goods in classes, Grey Shirtings gave promise of improvement at the close. Whites were ragged and rather inclined to weaken. Bleached T-Cloths and Jeans were steady. Velvets were well maintained. In our report last week E-wo were credited with a sale of "Butterfly" at 91 cands, but as a matter of fact they sold 20 pcs. "Schoolroom" at Tls. 114⅝. Italians were strong on Tuesday, the lower qualities improving 1 to 3 mace, but today the market was a little flat for these goods and the same may be said for the Venetians.

ROSENFELD REPORT

China Cotton.—The market during the past week has had a weak undertone, following the prolonged dullness and daily increase of receipts from the interior marts to which we have alluded so frequently. The decline culminated in an abrupt liquidation of the big long interest that has been attracting so much attention during the last couple of months.

With the light before us, therefore, we cannot escape the conclusion that present prices are high enough and favor selling in firm markets.

Yarn.—Since our last report, our market has been generally weak, prices having declined some two to three taels, Standard yarn at the Exchange having declined three to four taels and at the close the undertone was steady. In all some 3,000 to 4,000 bales of local spinnings have been bought up by Szechuen, Kiangse, Swatow, Anhwei and Northern dealers during the past week. Deliveries continue to be good.

SPUNT AND COMPANY

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their cotton market report of today:

China Cotton:—Although very little activity transpired during the week under review prices continued with slight fluctuations on the same level as those ruling in the previous period, and notwithstanding the prevailing paucity in financial support, the rates disclosed a somewhat firmer tendency whenever legitimate enquiries evolved on the local staple, thus showing that while consumers are prepared to purchase at the current values, sellers, confident in obtaining their limits, prefer to wait for a realisation of their ideas.

The declines that have lately been registered in both Mid-Americans and Indians have to a certain extent temporarily affected the local market; but having in view the inadequacy this year in the world supplies of the raw material the expectations are for ultimately higher prices. Tone of the market, Steady.

The Southern Expedition

BY JOSEF W. HALL

IT is impossible, from the outside, to analyse internal politics in the southern republic, but the actuating motive seems to be this: Sun Yat-sen, in the seat of honor in Canton, looks with some misgiving at Chen Chung-ming, in the seat of actual power at the head of the army in Kwangsi, and would fain exchange places with his General. It is no more necessary to believe that such an attitude on the part of President Sun is due to personal ambition or craving for power than to believe that any of his past policies have been dictated by purely sordid motives. However we may regard his ideals, Sun Yat-sen has ideals, for which he is willing to make any sacrifice as well as accept any glory. He always has been and still is willing to utilise any means to his end.

Like President Wilson, perhaps, he feels that he is the only person who will ever carry out his ideals, and that for their success he must keep authority and influence in his own hands. His ambition is unbounded, but it is an ambition to demonstrate the correctness of a theory which has become so dear to him that he can justly be regarded in this light as a fanatic. It is not only unjust but an entirely mistaken analysis to say that Sun's ambition is for aggrandisement. It is no more personal than was President Wilson's. And is no less ruthless and intolerant. For no one is so ruthless and intolerant as the devotee of an ideal.

It is fashionable to say that Sun Yat-sen is impracticable. This statement is often made by political conversationalists in a glib manner, with no conscious analysis. Sun Yat-sen's impracticality lies herein: that, like Ex-President Wilson (to continue our comparison) he refuses to allow his aims to be made the common sense product of a number of average brains. He holds them, with the uncompromising persistence of the prophet who believes in his own inspiration, to a level high above ordinary human expediency. He has no inclination to cast his ideas into the melting pot with those of his associates. Instead, he endeavors to take the grosser ideals of these associates and recast them into the counterpart of his own. The results are not counterparts or even images, they are grotesque caricatures, and—the public is right—they are impractical.

In these things I have compared Sun Yat-sen to Wilson. They are the product of an abnormal self-consciousness bred to a fine idealism. In all other things, including bigness and littleness alike, I do not wish to be held responsible for comparison.

Now, applying psychology to political developments, we may account for Sun's expedition of conquest against the north. We may believe that, first and foremost, it is a ruse upon his part to get at the head of the army. For he is faced with the alternative of either compromising his ideals with the others in control, or maintaining himself overpoweringly in control of his forces. Whether he has thought through the thing further than this is doubtful. The first thing is to get at the head of the force and keep it worked up to crusading zeal. Trust to the gods of the inveterate agitator to find an objective against which to turn the zeal. Various things are being mentioned: The trouble at Macao; the addition of Kiangsi to the southern fold; the conquest of Wuhan and ruin of Wu Pei-fu. The investment of Peking!

A southern invasion of the north is as absurd as have been the northern invasions of the south. It is as impossible for one faction to conquer the other as it is for one scrapping puppy to eat the other. It is as unlikely that Canton will ever capture Peking or vice versa as that Warsaw will ever capture Moscow. Either has too great a hinterland into which the struggle may be led away and lost. The lines on either side are so unclearly drawn that the only forces which any one at any given time could be assured were in opposition to one another would be those directly firing at one another. And there the alignment would be subject to change without notice, even in the heat of battle.

The most likely import of the action which Sun Yat-sen's home politics are impelling him to take is concerned with the man who is most fitted to succeed him in the leadership at home, and the man in the opposite camp whose ideals, being nearest his own, are the most likely to supplant his own, and therefore are, to his mind, the greatest rivals of his own. These men are Chen Chung-ming and Wu Pei-fu. Sun's decision, if he holds fast to it, may stimulate by violence the natural gravitation of these men toward one another. If so, it may be worthwhile to China's political evolution. This phase of the present situation is sufficiently involved to deserve separate discussion.

ANOTHER GRIEVANCE

Mike: "Do you know, Pat, the Sun never sets on the British Empire?"

Pat: "Ay, to be sure, and quite right never to trust those Englishmen in the dark.

TALK

What a man does before marriage, and his wife does after.

SOME IMAGINATION

She: "I think married men are more imaginative than single ones."

He: "Why do you say that?"

She: "It has been estimated that during a married life of fifty years a man will answer the question 'where have you been?' 18,898 times. Surely that signifies the marvellous fertility of a married man's mind."

* * *

JUST HOW YOU TAKE IT

"A trouble's a pound or a trouble's an ounce,
A trouble is what you make it.
It isn't the size of a trouble that counts;
It's this: Just how do you take it?"

MONEY GOES LIKE WILD-FIRE

Sometimes a man gets so desperate that he wishes he could issue a statement that he will not be responsible for bills of his own contracting.

SHAKESPEARE DIDN'T SAY:

"Men were deceivers never!"

Polygamy By Surplus Women Unnecessary

"If a Girl Wants to Marry, the Odds Are Seven to One in Her Favor. If Not, She Is Still Necessary. The World Cannot Get Along Without Single Women," Says The Hon. Mrs. Masterman, of England

BY MRS. C. F. G. MASTERMAN

(In this closely reasoned article Mrs. Masterman shows the need of "surplus" women in the world, and demonstrates that this so-called problem is no new matter.)

There is one observation that no one seems to have made over the "excess" or "surplus" of women in England.

It is, why is it only two millions? Why is it not two and a half?

Before the war the excess of women over men was a million and a half. The loss of young men in the war was about 900,500—as near a million as makes statistically no difference. What happened to the missing half-million women? Did they die of influenza? Or is the excess of boy babies born in the war (there always is an excess of boy babies, war or no war) being safeguarded, instead of dying?

This, however, is by the day. The thing to be faced is that this "excess," or surplus, is not a new problem. It is an enlarged form of an old one. There has been in England an excess of women over men ever since there has been a census. This is due partly to the greater mortality among boy babies, and partly to the greater longevity of women.

There are more women over fifty alive in England than men over fifty, a fact that may perhaps calm the nerves of some of our more hectic moralists, who see visions of a kind of mammoth beauty chorus chanting that simple song, "I want a boy."

It might also console them a little if they tried to visualise for a moment a world where all women were married by twenty-five.

One thing may be postulated with some certainty: it would not mean more children. For there is a certain amount of work in the world that can only be done by women, and by women, as the advertisements say, without encumbrance. They might be married but they must be childless.

Nor does the absence of the excess of women automatically improve their position. In France, before the war, the "excess" was the other way about. There were more men than women. Yet it was harder for a girl without money to get married in France than in England and in many ways the legal status of the Frenchwoman is inferior to that of an Englishwoman.

THE POLYGAMY PROBLEM

The form in which the problem is usually stated is, "what is to be done with them?" In other words, how are they to live? It is at this point that the furtively advocated solution of polygamy breaks down.

Putting aside for the moment the moral and religious aspects of the question, polygamy, whether open and legalised, as in the East, or concealed and unrecognised, as in the West, is only possible on a large scale in times of great prosperity. If a man finds it difficult to maintain one family, he is not going to set up a second, and if a woman finds it difficult to maintain herself, she is unlikely to add a child to her burdens. Moreover, every woman who can think and read knows very well that one of the crying social needs of the day is for more, and not less, strictness in sexual relations.

Polygamy is a danger or possibility, according to how you look at it. But it is not a "solution."

So what is necessary, as it was before the war, only a little more so, is for the individual girl to think matters over and to make up her own mind whether she cannot face life without marriage, or whether there are not other things she likes as well or better.

But if any particular girl decides to renounce the possibility of marriage, there still remains a very large number of other possibilities for her to choose from and she can, if she likes, ring the changes. Probably she will be obliged to work; the after-war world cannot carry many passengers. The same necessity lies on the married woman, but she works at home. But the single woman can choose whether she will take work that involves traveling or work that keeps her at home. And if at any time she feels called upon to throw up her work and go to the rescue of those in distress of disaster at home or abroad, she can if she likes. It is her own risk and her own affair.

If she wishes to emigrate she will undoubtedly find, in the looser texture of overseas society, more scope and openings than she finds at home, provided she is trained and capable. It might be added that the untrained and incapable are useless everywhere, and supremely useless in marriage.

THE PRICE OF AFFECTION

Nor need the single woman be afraid of not getting affection. I have a recollection of a charming and neatly dressed spinster who made it her work to rattle up and down the long, rickety railways of South Africa as an emissary of the railway mission, bring books, religion, and sympathy to the railway employes in lonely places. She never had a settled home, and she endured a good deal of hardship. But the recurring refrain of her conversation was "You cannot think how nice they all are to her." The price of affection is kindness.

Dr. Klein Predicts Recovery From War

New York, September 1.—Dr. Joseph J. Klein, lecturer on accountancy and authority on the income tax and forms of Federal taxation, returned from Europe on Thursday after having made a study of post-war taxation in connection with business conditions abroad. In reviewing yesterday conditions in the various countries he visited Dr. Klein said that Europe and the world would eventually recover entirely from the effects of the war. Already in many countries he had seen many evidences of this recovery. To speed up this recovery, he said, there remains much to be done in the way of cleaning up the "sore spots," such as Bolshevism, the cholera, Germany's threat of commercial war, somewhat necessitated by reparation demands, and misunderstandings engendered by hastily constructed and ill-advised tariff discriminations.

"In England," he said, "I found that despite the strength of English trades unionism the British manufacturer is confident that labor will realize the necessity of wage reductions in order to keep the factories open.

"There is optimism in France. There industry recognizes that the times are out of joint, but reacting to victory begotten enthusiasm just 'feels' that everything will soon be right. French fields show that much of trench devastated soil has been recovered.

"The German manufacturer and trader appear to be well organized and ready for business. The German workman is tractable, and while he receives a daily stipend far in excess of his peacetime dreams, the German exporter can well afford the price.

"Both the immediate and the distant outlook for Austria is dismal. The world is too busy with its own problems to do much for the remnant of the empire and, perhaps, is disinclined to extend itself in relief operations because war wounds are still open. As to the future, I am inclined to agree with the Austrians—officials, professionals and the 'men on the street'—that Austria can never become industrially self-sufficient. Perhaps, according to one university professor who formerly was regarded as an authority in European history, 'She must inevitably remain stricken unless permitted to become part of Germany.'

"The reaction to peace times, early witnessed in the financial collapse of Japan, did not spare Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Like other countries which profited from the war condition, these countries failed to remember that even the longest wars must cease. Unwise investments in fixed assets and tremendous stocking up of merchandise resulted in the inevitable. Hundreds of ocean-going boats are rusting and wasting at anchorage; lumber and woodpulp for more than a year's extravagant demand is available in Sweden. Denmark finds that England has shut down on purchases of farm and dairy produce and now turns to the United States as the only possible customer who can pay for her purchases. Despite the poor outlook, retail prices appear to have fallen less than in England and France, unless the prospective buyer is an American and the French shopkeeper 'saw him coming.'

"Everywhere there is a general recognition of the intimate relationship between taxation and business prosperity. This is shown in England in the abandonment of the proposal to impose a tax on capital measured by increase in wealth over pre-war base, and by other measures. There appears to exist a conviction that in the long run that country will profit most which will be the first to regain a peacetime base. The corollary is that as far as possible the immediate present should not be burdened with more than a minimum of war cost. Although the final cost may be greater, it will be easier borne if refunding rather than retirement of war securities be adopted as a fiscal policy.

"England has no sales tax and will not adopt it. But if the effect of a sales tax is to impose a burden on consumption, England has indeed had a sales tax for years. Just look at these import duties for free-trade England: Cocoa, about 8 cents a pound; coffee, from 8 to 10 cents a pound; sugar, 4 cents a pound, and tea, about 20 cents a pound. How much a pound is added by dealers I shall not attempt to guess."

Dr. Klein said that his observations had led to the conclusion that much could be gained by a congressional survey of international conditions.

-:- A Londoner On Skyscrapers -:-

Praise For Manhattan's Architecture—Elevator And Lift

(William Archer, In The Westminster Gazette)

The miscalled skyscraper—the high building—is not a monstrosity, but a thing of great imaginative daring; sometimes ugly, no doubt, but more often truly grandiose and colossal. It first came into being, for topographical reasons, in the congested toe of Manhattan Island; but, in a modified form, it is certain to spread through all great cities. I do not mean that such windy canyons as lower Broadway and Wall Street will rise in London and Paris, but that in all populous places great islands of beautiful architecture will stand out above the sea of ordinary five and six story houses. The typical New York office building has enormous advantages. Go to see a publisher or a lawyer in London, and you find him installed in stuffy, dusty insanitary chambers, perhaps in a converted dwelling house of the eighteenth century, or two such dwelling houses inconveniently run together—at all events, in a dingy rabit-warren of a place. In New York you are shot up in an express elevator to the twelfth or fifteenth floor of a vast building. If your business is with a lawyer you pass along a spotlessly clean corridor, paved and lined with white marble, and you find him in a sunny, airy suite of rooms, high above the noises of the city and looking out, it may be, over the noble Hudson to the New Jersey shore, or over the series of gigantic bridges that span the East River—otherwise Long Island Sound. If, on the other hand, your visit is to a publisher, you pass along no corridor, for the probability is that the elevator lands you right in his waiting room. He probably occupies one whole floor of the great building—half an acre of glass-partitioned space—a busy hive of multifarious industry. It is comfortably heated in winter, admirably ventilated in summer; the grubbiness and stuffiness of London are entirely absent. The publisher's own sanctum is probably in a corner, with magnificent views in two directions over the endless expanse of the city, with its cliffs of masonry and its countless plumes of white steam. Air and sunshine penetrate everywhere—glorious sunshine being amazingly prevalent in New York.

Business has put off its grime and housed itself in the blue space of the sky. And we make it our foolish pride that we are earth-bound, and boast of our resolute propinquity to the gutter!

People often ask why the practical Americans use four syllables to designate an appliance which we denote in the single syllable—lift. This is at first sight paradoxical; but after a few days in America you realise that the two words are admirably appropriate to two very different things. The American elveator exhilaratingly elevates; the British lift laboriously lifts. I confess to taking great delight in the swift, sensitive machines that rush you up in the twinkling of an eye to the twentieth floor of a great hotel or business building. They are to the crawling, doddering British lift as a racehorse to a pack-mule. The tone of mind which professes to shrink in horror from such achievements of "mechanical civilisation" is one of the innumerable phases of the Great Stupidity.

But "elevator architecture," though the most prominent feature of New York and other American cities, is not the only evidence of the constructive genius of the race. In every type of building America leads the world. The finest railway stations in Europe—Frankfort, Cologne, and the Paris Gare d'Orleans—are paltry in comparison with those vast palaces of marble and travertine, the Pennsylvania and the Grand Central termini, with the Union Station at Washington not far behind them. Each of the great New York stations is a city in itself.

Turkish Joan Of Arc Leads Woman Army

Halideh Hanoum, "Right-Hand Woman" Of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Fights With His Forces Against Greece—She Was The First Of Her Sex Ever Called To Hold a Cabinet Position In Turkey

From the time that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary the Turks have been involved in war. At the present time they are waging a war with the Greeks in Asia Minor, along a front as extended as that of the western front in the great war, and with some 200,000 troops engaged on both sides.

The immediate cause of the conflict is their refusal to abide by the treaty of Sevres, which reduced Turkey enormously in size and gave Greece concessions of territory around Smyrna and in Thrace.

The two great Turkish leaders in the conflict are Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Commander-in-Chief of the Army, and a woman named Halideh Hanoum, who is fighting in the field with him.

From a land where woman have been held little better than beautiful chattels, to be secluded behind veil and lattice, now comes a Jeanne d'Arc on horseback to help her country in its need.

Like Jeanne d'Arc, Halideh Hanoum dreamed dreams. They had to do with the freedom of her people from the despotic rule of Abdul Hamid; with the emancipation of the masses from ignorance and superstition through education, and with the completed Turkification of the empire.

She was more than a dreamer, however; she was distinctly a woman of action. Although it is only within a year that she has held any public office or title, her personality, intellectual power and fearlessness have given her a political power which few women have possessed even in the Western World.

After the disaster in Syria, when the Turkish Army was so completely defeated by Allenby, and the armistice which soon followed, Halideh Hanoum was one of the first of the Turks to urge the necessity and desirability of an American mandate. She conducted monster open-air meetings in support of the idea.

With the assistance of Achmed Ermin Bey, the editor of the Ikdam, she enlisted all but two of the Constantinople newspapers. She was one of those who actually drafted the mandatory scheme which was submitted to the Paris Conference.

When the last hope of an American mandate vanished, Halideh Hanoum allied herself with the Nationalist movement in Anatolia, which had arisen as a protest to the signing of the treaty of Sevres by the Constantinople Government.

Again she held great meetings in Stamboul, calling upon for hearers as loyal Turks to desert the papiermache government of the Sultan.

The Allied officers who were responsible for the peace of the city soon discovered that it became necessary to arrest her. Halideh Hanoum fled in disguise to Angora, the capital of the Nationalist Government in Asia Minor. Upon her arrival there she was immediately called to a Cabinet position, that of Minister of Education, by Mustapha Kemal. Such an appointment of a woman to a cabinet position is without precedent in the history of the Ottoman Empire. She later resigned and now is in the field with the army, in command of some 1,800 women.

Tebong Rubber Estate, Ltd. Statutory Meeting

The statutory meeting of the Tebong Rubber Estate, Ltd., was held at 11:45 o'clock yesterday at the offices of J. A. Wattie and Co., secretaries and general managers, 24a Kiangse Road.

The chairman's speech was as follows:

"Gentlemen.

"This meeting is called to comply with the Hongkong Ordinances, which, as you are doubtless aware, require every public company to hold a Statutory meeting within three months from the date at which the company is entitled to commence business.

"The statutory report has been in your hands for several days and you will have seen therefrom that the time limit is too short to allow of the preparation of the final accounts of the old company and it, is therefore impossible to set out an accurate statement of the assets and liabilities taken over or of those realised or discharged in the Straits since the new company was incorporated.

"Applications for new shares now amount to Taels 44,341, a few further applications having been received since the report was compiled. The application list for shareholders resident out of China does not close until the 15th of November so it is not yet possible to give you the final total of new shares issued.

"In this connection I would like to say that, as it is improbable that the whole 73,267 shares that it was proposed to issue will be applied for, your directors are prepared to receive applications for further shares from any of you who may wish to round off or to increase your present holdings.

"A list of the shareholders is lying on the table and is open for your inspection.

"An ordinary general meeting is to be held immediately after this meeting and I will reserve any remarks that I have to make on planting matters until then.

"That is all I have to say, gentlemen, but if any one has any questions to ask I shall be pleased to answer same to the best of my ability."

The statutory report, presented by the chairman, Mr. A. J. Welch, and seconded by Mr. McGregor, was passed.

Mr. H. M. Tibbey, a director, was present in addition to Directors Welch and McGregor. Mr. Scarborough acted as secretary. Over 72,000 shares were represented.

The first annual meeting immediately followed the statutory meeting. The address of the chairman follows:

"Gentlemen.

"As it is necessary to hold an ordinary general meeting of Shareholders once at least in every calendar year, your directors have thought it advisable to take advantage of this gathering to do so and to give you what information they can regarding the condition of the estate. The new company commenced business on the 1st August, 1921, so that the accounts for the first financial year, which ends on the 31st January next, will cover the working for 6 months only.

"We have lately had the pleasure of a visit from Major Wm. Sime the head of Messrs. Sime Darby & Co., Ltd., the Malacca agents of the company, and your directors have discussed the position with him very fully and have gone thoroughly into the question of any possible economies.

"The whole mature area of the estate, that is to say some 2260 acres, is being tapped on the alternate day system with most satisfactory results as regards cost and your directors have decided to adopt this system as the permanment policy of the estate. The visiting agent in his last quarterly report, which came to hand a few days ago, writes as follows:

"I went carefully into the question of future expenditure with the manager and am of the opinion that the estate can be maintained efficiently, allowing for the necessary pestand disease work, and a slow but steady improvement in weeding on a total monthly expenditure not exceeding $13,750 on a crop up to 55,000 lbs.

"This, gentlemen, is equivalent to only 25 cents a pound and covers all revenue expenditure as well as the cost of the upkeep of the 1315 acres of immature rubber. The crops for August & September only averaged 42,500 lbs. a month so that the expenditure for these two months will probably be somewhere about the equivalent of 29 cents per pound, but as there were special reasons for the small output during this period the expenditure for October will, I hope, approximate more closely to the estimate.

"The estate as a whole is reported to be in good condition although for reasons of economy certain work such as silt pitting, which it would be advisable to undertake in normal times is being left in abeyance for the time being.

"The staff on the estate, which now consists of the manager and 6 assistants, have agreed to accept a reduction of 10 percent on their salaries from the 1st of August for so long as the present acute depression lasts, and I am sure you will all join with me in thanking these gentlemen for doing so and at the same time express the hope that it will not be long before conditions improve so that we can make up to them for their sacrifice.

"As you have no doubt seen from the papers the scheme proposed by the Rubber Growers' Association in London for the formation of a Rubber Producers Corporation to control the output and sale of rubber fell through for lack of adequate support, only some 769,000 acres out of the requisite minimum of 2,200,000 acres having provisionally agreed to give their assent to the scheme. It is possible that some alternative scheme of a less elaborate nature will be proposed but in the meantime there is nothing for us to do except to work with the most rigid economy and endeavor to produce at a figure that is lower than the price we can get for our product.

"I believe that if rubber does not go below 30 cents per pound and that the depression does not last for very many months longer we have a good chance of surviving the crisis but I must confess I should feel very much easier in my mind if the shareholders had all taken up the quota of shares of which they were entitled to apply.

"That is all I have to say. Gentlemen, but I shall be pleased to reply to any questions to the best of my ability."

WHARFAGE AND LANDING CHARGES

Owing to the increased cost of working and maintenance, the undermentioned Wharves find it necessary to raise the charges for WHARFAGE, LANDING and DELIVERY. After careful consideration, they beg to announce that on and after January 1st, 1922, there will be an increase of 10% on the present R. S. and D. tariff, dated January 1, 1920.

STORAGE RATES

A revised tariff for STORAGE is in the course of being drawn up, and will be published as soon as possible, the new rates coming into force on January 1st, 1922, but will not apply to goods placed on Landing Accounts prior to that date.

HANKOW MARKET

In their weekly circular of the Hankow Trade dated October 12, the British Chamber of Commerce of Hankow write as follows:

FINANCE AND MONEY MARKET

The London quotation for Bar Silver on the 11th instant was 42½d. ready and 42⅛d. forward, unchanged ready and ¼d down forward. China has continued to buy and India has also been taking an interest in the London market. The undertone appears good. Stocks of Silver in Shanghai on the 6th instant were estimated at Tls. 21,965,000 and Dollars 24,100,000. During the week the New York London cross rate improved to 3.87⅛, but has since reacted to 3.85¾.

Chinese Market Rates:—Shanghai Taels 97.1. Dollars local currency 70.65. Native Interest:—6% per annum.

EXPORTS

Business generally suffered from rising exchange rates. Prices in Europe for Wood Oil, Tallow, Beans, Peas and Sesamum Seed are easier. Quotations for old crop Tallow have consquently declined here, but Wood Oil is very strong owing to lack of supplies. Hides are stagnant. Cotton quotations are still to high to permit of business being done.

IMPORTS

The market still remains firm and taken all round prices are slightly improved. Clearances continue good.

Passengers Departed

Per I-C. s.s. Tuckwo for Hankow: Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Chapple, Mrs. R. Eichanbaum, Mrs. M. Beilin.

Chita-Japan Conference Is On Again At Dairen

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 17.—The Dairen Conference between the Japanese and the representatives of the Far Eastern Republic reopened on October 15, and began deliberations which resulted in the decision to leave the seat of the Conference at Dairen and to decide fundamental principles before going into the details of the trade treaty; but as far as has been reported, no agreement has yet been reached upon the moot question of the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Siberia.

The conference was broken off some time ago because of the inability of the delegates to reach an agreement upon the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Siberia, and because of the fact that the telegraph communications between Dairen and Chita were so bad that it was difficult for the Far Eastern Republic people to get instructions from their home government.

The first day of the conference saw two questions discussed and decided in the favor of the Japanese point-of-view. The Chita delegates were very strong for the removal of the seat of the conference from Dairen to Chita, or to Harbin, so that they would not be obliged to have their telegraphic communications over Chinese owned and managed lines, which, they declared, intentionally and by carelessness garbled their messages to such an extent that the receipt of instructions was impossible.

JAPAN PROMISES AID

The Japanese representatives sympathised with them upon this matter, but they pointed out that should the seat of the conference be removed to Harbin or Chita, they, the Japanese, would face exactly the same situation, since the telegraph lines connecting Harbin or Chita with Japan had to pass through Chinese managed sections. They promised, however, that they would do their best to help the Chita delegates to get good service from the Chinese.

In addition to this request, the Chita representatives asked that a commission be appointed to study the details of the trade agreement that was to be drawn up, it being necessary to have experts to decide the technical questions. This also was opposed by the Japanese on the ground that general principles of the matter should be decided before any of the details were considered, and this was also agreed to by the Chita delegates. After the consideration of these two questions the meeting was adjourned for the day.

The main question, therefore, of the withdrawal of Japanese troops has not yet been decided, but it is felt that it will probably come up in the meetings that follow this first one, though there is no indication of what the decision upon the matter will be.

PLACE IS THE HITCH

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 20.—Negotiations between China and the Far Eastern Republic on the Chinese Eastern Railway are held up because the parties cannot agree on a place for the conference. The Chinese insist that the parley should take place in Peking while Chita is the choice of the Far Eastern Republic delegates.

Yangtszepoo Social Center Notes

The General Director, Pro. Kulp has returned from America and has resumed his work. With new experiences and plans, he is working hard with the members of the staff, toward the development of the Center.

Dr. H. W. Decker, Surgeon-in-chief of our Industrial Hospital, has left here. He will spend one year in the Nanking Language School, and will resume his work here next year. During his absence, Dr. G. A. Huntley, of Shanghai College, is in charge of the medical side of the hospital. The work in the hospital is going on favorably.

The enrollment both in the day school and the night school has been greatly increased. The night school meets four nights a week.

Various meetings and entertainments are held once a week, to amuse and at the same time to develop the moral social and other tendencies of the people around this industrial district.

The Physical Department is organising a football club.

A Chinese Music Club and a Glee Club have also been organised. It is hoped that many will join these clubs.

The Sunday School work is to be reorganised. It is expected that the reorganisation will mean efficient work of that department in the days to come. It is understood that volunteer teachers will come out from Shanghai College to teach the Sunday School classes.

The Center is always ready to welcome visitors, who are interested in the social conditions in Shanghai.

WINE TAX TO AID WUCHANG SCHOOL

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 18.—Closing of the Higher Normal College at Wuchang, which caused the students of the College to visit Peking and complain in person to the Government authorities, has resulted in an appropriation of $18,000 a month for carrying on the school.

This decision was reached at the last Cabinet meeting, which, acting on the recommendation of the Ministry of Education, authorised the Minister of Finance to instruct the chief of the Hupeh Tobacco and Wine Bureau to pay over to the authorities of the Wuchang Normal College a monthly sum of $18,000 from the revenues derived from provincial Tobacco and Wine Tax.

Granting of this monthly allowance to the College does not increase its revenue, but is simply an attempt to ensure the payment of the allowance allocated to the College under the present educational budget.

WILL AID STUDENTS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 18.—The students of Wuchang University who recently came to Peking to demand funds for their institution despatched six delegates yesterday to interview Premier Chin. These delegates were received by Mr. Hsu Pao-heng, Secretary to the Cabinet, who explained that the Government was considering means of coping with the difficulties confronting the University.
